Expect Confirmation Dominion Purchase Of 85 Relief Cars

Wealthies, Macs and Jonathans to Make up Most Cars to be Purchased by Federal Government for Distribution to Prairie Centres—Local Committee to Send Eleven Cars to Alberta

Domestic Movement Slow but Export Sales Stronger

THE B. C. Fruit Board is anxiously awaiting confirmation this week of orders for eighty to eighty-five cars of fruit which will be purchased by the Dominion government for distribution to relief districts in the prairie sections which are still in a depressed state. First intimation of the government intention in this regard was received ten days ago, but actual confirmation has not been received.

Billings Made Direct

Last year more than 170 cars of apples were sold to the Dominion government for distribution mainly in Saskatchewan and in parts of Alberta. These cars were mostly shipped to a government agent in Regina and redistributed from there, but this year the cars will have billing direct from the Okanagan to destination points, as chosen by the department of agriculture to purchase for each car culture in Ottawa.

The board recommended the 76 Hyslop crabs, 200 Wealthies, 200 McIntosh 100 Jonathans, 100 sundries, and 80 Grimes or Winter Bananas. The government wired back that it could not accept Hyslops, so a further recommendation was sent east to increase the Wealthy and Mac amounts.

In the meantime, requests have come into the Okanagan for relief cars to be sent to Alberta points, similar to those which have been donated by the Okanagan in past years. The Okanagan prairie relief committee had not intended to operate this year but so urgent were the pleas from Alberta that it was decided to send 11 relief cars to Alberta this year.

Gordon Herbert, whose energy has been responsible in the main for the organization of relief cars for Saskatchewan and Alberta in such quantities during the past few years, states that no more than 11 cars will be sent. One has gone forward already.

Billings are arranged by the Alberta bureau of relief and public welfare. Andrew Ritchie complained to Mr. Herbert this week that direct sales of apples would be cancelled in one Alberta district if a relief car was sent there, and Mr. Herbert states he wired Alberta to that effect. Otherwise, the Okanagan committee has no authority in designating the destination of the relief cars.

In the past year considerable criticism has been turned to Page 6, story 1.

THREE VALLEY MEN TO VISIT WINNIPEG

W. E. Haskins, C. A. Hayden and E. J. Chambers to Attend Conference

W. E. Haskins, C. A. Hayden and E. J. Chambers are leaving this week-end for Winnipeg, where they will attend sessions of the Canadian chamber of agriculture and the western agricultural conference. The latter is being held on October 26 and 27 and the chamber conference on October 28 and 29.

Mr. Chambers is a director of the Canadian chamber and Mr. Hayden is secretary of the B.C. chamber, while Mr. Haskins has been invited to address the gatherings on the British Columbia marketing act and the effect of the privy council decision, with a view, it is supposed, of paving the way for other provinces pressing their legislation to adopt similar legislation, and ultimately to have the Dominion government to come into the picture once more.

Kelowna Hospital Again Approved By American College of Surgeons

Local Institution One of Three Interior Hospitals That Meet Rigid Requirements

Kelowna General Hospital has again been approved by the American College of Surgeons for 1938 according to an announcement of 2,664 hospitals in the United States and Canada approved last week in New York. The Kelowna and Nelson hospitals were the only other hospitals in the interior of this province to meet the necessary requirements.

The recognition by the American College of Surgeons means that the people of this district have a hospital service of a very high type available. This is of vital importance when it is realized that every three or four seconds one person on the average enters some hospital as a patient and that out of every fourteen persons, one will be a patient in a hospital during 1938. Good hospital care is fundamental to medical progress and to the maintenance of a high general average of health in any community. The recognition of the local hospital should be appreciated as it is an indication that the local authorities are making every effort to maintain a high standard in the local hospital.

Before any hospital can be approved by the American College of Surgeons any hospital must meet certain definite requirements. These include a modern physical plant, assuring the patients comfort and proper care; clear definition of organization, duties, responsibilities and relations in the hospitals' constitutions, bylaws, rules and regulations; a carefully selected governing board with complete supervisory authority; a competent, trained superintendent responsible to the board for carrying out its policies; adequate and efficient personnel, properly organized and competently supervised; organized medical staff of ethical, competent physicians and surgeons; adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities under competent medical supervision; accurate and complete medical records; readily accessible, for research and follow-up; regular group conferences of the administrative staff and of the medical staff for reviewing and planning results so as to maintain a high plane of scientific efficiency; a humanitarian spirit—the primary consideration is the best care of the patient.

Captains Who Will Guide Schoolboy Traffic Patrols

These six clean-cut lads are the ones who received their Sam Brown belts on Monday afternoon at the junior high auditorium from Mayor O. L. Jones and prepared to take over their duties in the new schoolboy traffic patrol, which operates on Richter street in the school zone. The boys were snapped beside the provincial police highway patrol car following the inaugural ceremonies on Monday afternoon. They are from right to left: Eugene Ryan, Jack Morrison, Ernest Gordon, Guy Roxby, Bruce Fraser and George Patterson. We almost lost Patterson because of the nervousness of the cameraman. Roxby is substituting for Floyd Caza, who was ill on the day this picture was taken, but will resume his duties in a few days.

Quantity Discounts Cause of Grower Discontent with Resultant Resolution from Southern Meeting

Haynes Co-operative Growers Protest Against Practice of Single-Desk Agency in Allowing Rebates—Puts Small Man at Decided Disadvantage is Claimed

THROUGHOUT the Okanagan, rumblings of grower discontent regarding the quantity discounts being allowed by the single desk agency and announced with the first regulations issued by the B.C. Fruit Board have been heard. These quantity discounts have been allowed the jobbing trade for some time, it is understood, but only recently have they been brought into the direct limelight of the growers.

PHEASANTS NOT SO PLENTIFUL HUNTERS FIND

NOVEMBER 15

Ducks Said to be More in Evidence This Season Than for Many Years

King Pheasant is on the run. He is being chased by hundreds of Okanagan sportsmen as well as a horde of visiting gun toters from all parts of the province and from the United States. Since 12 o'clock on Saturday, October 15, hundreds of hunters have been trailing these elusive birds in all parts of the Okanagan.

It is always a mystery where the elusive pheasant goes to when hunting season commences. On October 14, the day before the season opens, thousands of birds may be observed in the Okanagan and yet when the season opens, they are nowhere.

FEDERAL MAN SEES "COMBINE" PRINCIPALS

Combines Act Commissioner Interviews Leading Figures in Alleged Combines Case

HAS FULL RESPONSIBILITY
Can Act Without Recourse to Ottawa Labor Minister

The attention of the Okanagan has been focussed on Vernon this week where F. A. McGregor, investigator of the department of labor, Ottawa, combines act branch, has been interviewing the various principals in the alleged combine as charged by Godfrey Isaacs last August.

Mr. McGregor arrived in the Valley on Monday and at once commenced a personal examination of the evidence presented to him. Late Wednesday night the commissioner refused to make any statement excepting that he was continuing his investigation until he was satisfied that there was ample evidence, or there was not, to proceed under the act.

Since coming to the Valley Mr. McGregor has interviewed Mr. Isaacs, President A. K. Loyd of the B.C.F.G.A., C. Hayden, secretary of the B.C.F.G.A., W. E. Haskins of the Tree Fruit Board, Attorney-General Wismer, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, A. McLean of the attorney-general's department at Victoria, Mr. Clyde of McRae, Duncan & Clyde, solicitors, Vancouver, W. R. Long, Penticton lawyer, and a number of others. Mr. McLean is staying in the Valley to represent the province during Mr. McGregor's visit. Mr. Wismer and Mr. MacDonald returned to the coast on Tuesday.

On Wednesday, R. B. Staples and a representative from Sales Service Ltd. were interviewed by the commissioner. Mr. McGregor is the commissioner appointed under combines act to conduct any investigation necessary. It is his privilege to act without recourse to the minister of his department. The decision as to whether the investigation proceeds or not under the act is apparently in his hands. Moreover, it would seem that should a full dress investigation be inaugurated that Mr. McGregor would be the commissioner as the act has been amended to make the appointment of any other person unnecessary. If this be the case the prospect of Lewis Duncan being engaged to investigate a second alleged combine case is extremely remote.

Mr. Wismer, provincial attorney-general, spent the week-end in Kelowna potting the odd pheasant and duck before meeting the federal investigator in Vernon on Tuesday.

ONE-DESK DEAL ALREADY SHOWING GOOD RESULTS

W. E. Haskins Feels Complaints From Prairies Have Ended

Already there are indications that the single agency scheme, for operating the fruit marketing deal this season, is meeting with good results.

After merely a week under the new scheme, favorable reports are forthcoming, according to W. E. Haskins, chairman of the B.C. Fruit Board.

A short time ago there was a literal stream of letters and telegrams being received from the prairie trade, bearing charges of chiselling, that stuff could be obtained at cut rate prices from Grand Forks, that Creston truck-

Winter Ferry Schedule May Be Extended Until Twelve O'clock

Department of Public Works Considering Suggestion to Increase Run from Nine to Twelve O'clock—Would Make Enormous Difference in Valley's Business Life

To Build New Ferry Here

THAT the department of public works is considering the suggestion that the winter schedule of M.S. Holdup be from eight in the morning until twelve at night, is the information The Courier received on Wednesday. The board of trade on that day passed a resolution supporting the suggestion.

MUNICIPALITIES MEET HERE TODAY

Members of the Okanagan municipal association are meeting in Kelowna this afternoon, as guests of the Kelowna city council, with Mayor O. L. Jones in the chair. Delegates from Kamloops in the north, to Penticton in the south are expected to be present.

Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer, accompanied by Dr. Dolman, his assistant, will be the principal guests of the gathering and will discuss many angles of principal interest to Okanagan cities and municipalities.

The summer schedule of the Holdup is due to terminate on October 31st, and if it reverts to the winter schedule in force in previous years it means that all travel south from Kelowna and to this city from the south will cease at nine o'clock. This is a definite detriment to the business and social life of the Valley, as had been proven in past years.

During recent weeks the public works department has had the matter drawn to its attention and it is probable that a decision will be made within the next few days. While no official word has been received, local people have every confidence that the winter schedule will be extended to twelve o'clock.

A letter from the Western Bridge Company which has the contract for the construction of the new ferry which will replace the Holdup, states that the company has definitely decided to assemble the craft in Kelowna. This confirms the report The Courier carried several weeks ago that such a decision had been made and that construction would commence about the first of December. The construction company also informed the board of trade that Col. MacKenzie, an official of the company, would be in this city in November to make all arrangements for the construction work here.

NEW MAIL ROUTE TO COVER BELGO AND GLENMORE

R.R. 3 Will Have Length of Over Twenty-six Miles

A new rural mail route will be established from the local post office as soon as the contract is let. The new route which will be known as Kelowna R.R. 3, will cover portions of the Kelowna and Glenmore districts, covering a total distance of twenty-six and seven-tenths miles. The mail will leave the local post office at nine a.m. in the winter and eleven-thirty a.m. in the summer and proceed east on Bernard to the Vernon road and north to the Black Mountain road, east on that road to the Hollywood road, then in a southerly direction via the Hollywood road to the corner near Capt. Bull's ranch, thence east to Wightman's corner, thence north via Dick road and Duncan's corner to the gravel pit, thence east to Willett's corner, thence to Black Mountain road, thence east and north via Harvey's ranch to Gibson's corner, thence north via Gibson's lower road to Simpson's ranch corner on old Vernon road, thence south and west via old Vernon road to Reid's corner, thence west on Rutland-Glenmore road to Seath's corner, thence north to Ritchie's, thence west to Hume's, thence south to Reid's, thence east to packing house, thence south to Glenmore store, thence north to Rankin's, thence southwest to Hardwick's corner, thence east to Glenmore store, thence south via golf course road to Bernard avenue.

FREIGHT RATES GIVE B.C. CANNERS ADVANTAGE

MARKETING ACT IN ONTARIO

Freight Rates Used as Argument Against Act by the Ontario Canners

That Ontario tomato processors are handicapped in doing business on the prairie markets by the freight rates from British Columbia which give the B.C. packer a decided advantage in that market, was the statement made by a committee of Ontario canners in interview with Hon. P. M. Dewar, Ontario minister of agriculture, during which a marketing act was discussed. "Freight rates being lowered from Ontario, published in the heart of the British Columbia," the Picton (Ont.) Times, published in the heart of the Ontario canning district, reports the canners' committee chairman as stating, "gives British Columbia a decided advantage."

Canadian Record Believed Set By Hughes Vineyard at Mission

Average of Twelve and a Half Tons per Acre Believed to Top Production Mark

A Canadian record, it is believed, has just been achieved by a Kelowna vineyard with the completion of the harvesting of the three and one-tenth acres of grapes under cultivation at J. W. Hughes Mission Ranch. Thirty-eight and one half tons of grapes have been taken off the three and one-tenth acres, averaging twelve and a half tons to the acre which is believed to considerably exceed any former production figures in this country. In addition to this figure the cleanup has yet to be made and this will swell the figure by a considerable amount as the crop was so heavy a clean first picking was impossible.

A Courier reporter visited the ranch to view the heavy crop. Words simply can give no adequate idea of the size of the bunches and the quantity of grapes. The variety was Sheridan and so heavy were the loaded vines that long staples were pulled from the posts.

A luxuriant wealth of foliage hid a large portion of the crop but even a casual glance at the vines revealed the fact that a crop of immense size was ready for the harvest.

Strong wires strung between stout posts sagged heavily. In some places the weight of the crop pulled all the staples in a post loose and the wires were held by the upward thrust of the vines, only a few inches below the loosened staples.

Luscious big, blue Sheridans were evident on every hand. Bunches weighing a pound and a half were commonplace. Many of the bunches were too large for the baskets. Every bunch was a picture of grapes, closely packed and fully developed grapes of the finest type.

While Sheridans produced the largest crop, they are but one of the many varieties which Mr. Hughes grows on his two ranches in the Mission district, Mission and Penticton. Big red Agawans vie with Sheridans for popular favor. Near little bunches of Delawares crowd and jostle each other on the vines until they eventually find their way to the Island and a winery. A score or more types are in the experimental stages and several give promise of greater things in years to come.

The Hughes' vineyards have been busy places for the past two months. As an indication of the activity, there is the fact that one day last week, just about ten thousand baskets left these vineyards for coast and prairie points.

A Cheering Note

A cheering note came into the alleged combines situation last week when one of the B.C.F.G.A. locals saw fit to pass a strong resolution approving the efforts of the B.C.F.G.A. to secure an investigation into the alleged combine. That it was the Penticton local that took this step was rather surprising because it has been in that district where carping criticism of the efforts of the growers' body were most strongly heard. It would seem to be a fair conclusion to assume that if the Penticton local is in strong support of the parent body, the large percentage of the whole body of growers has confidence in the executive body.

During the past month the growers have naturally been concerned that steps towards an investigation have not moved more rapidly and there have been murmurings against the committee in charge of handling the application. In every group there is always a certain percentage "agin' the government" at every point and it has been rather significant that in the present instance the loudest murmurs have come from those growers who have in the past taken a stand against the present setup. For this reason a large section of the growers, who were equally as anxious to have an investigation pressed forward, looked with suspicion on the efforts of independent committees, feeling that the leading spirits were motivated not so much by a spirit of furthering the investigation as by a desire to shake the growers' confidence in their own organization, the B.C.F.G.A. Happily the situation improved last week when President A. K. Loyd did a Chamberlain and met the recalcitrant committee in Penticton and straightened out many matters.

While progress towards an investigation has been slow, it is rather difficult to see just what more the committee of three appointed by the B.C.F.G.A. could do to further the investigation. The series of telegrams and letters between the committee and both provincial and federal ministers has been constant, with the committee at this end continually urging some action by the governments. Victoria replied that it was a matter for the combines act and Ottawa said it was a matter for the sales on consignment act and the investigation for some weeks fell between the two.

Mr. Godfrey Isaacs, who originally made the charges and who challenged the governments to take some action, is a member of the B.C.F.G.A.'s committee of three and as he has made no intimation to the contrary, he is, presumably, entirely satisfied that the committee has been doing everything in its power to obtain an investigation. Indeed, Mr. Isaacs is the mainstay of the committee and the whole case, as it was he who made the charges and who stated that when more evidence was required he would produce it. He fired the first shot and is supplying further ammunition.

That the growers have been impatient of the delay is not surprising and it is possibly natural also that with the delay there should be a desire for independent action to hasten things along. This week, however, the entire body of growers seems to be united for just one purpose. To bring the matter of an official investigation to a head. A federal official is now in the Valley and it is probable that he will be acquainted with the additional evidence which Mr. Isaacs doubtless has. "If an investigation is to be undertaken it is probable events will move swiftly from this point.

Hedging

Three weeks ago The Courier in these columns pointed out that Hon. J. E. Elliott, minister of labor in the then MacKenzie King Government, in 1926, in the House of Commons, replying to a question of Hon. Grote Stirling, stated that in the opinion of the government, the merest suspicion of the existence of a combine was quite sufficient to inaugurate an investigation under the combines act, and he was reported by hand to this effect. Mr. Elliott made the remarks for the purpose of making the government's position clear in the matter.

Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor in the present King administration, has chosen to sidestep the opinion of the former minister and thus to in some measure alter the policy of the Ottawa government. Replying to a telegram sent by A. K. Loyd, president of the B.C.F.G.A., in which his attention was drawn to the government's attitude as laid down by Mr. Elliott, Mr. Rogers replied "... I believe it is only proper that I should again refer to your attention the sales on consignment act as being the legislation enacted to meet the need mentioned. The provincial act was passed a few months after the minister's statement was made, on the basis of a draft prepared by the commissioner who made the investigation under the combines investigation act."

Mr. Rogers' reply is one of those typical expressions of opinion which so frequently come from the pens of politicians. It is neither meat nor fowl; neither food nor drink. It is, however, a fine example of how to reply to a question with some fine sounding words and say exactly nothing.

Mr. Rogers apparently found it convenient to overlook the fact that the Liberal policy as enunciated by the King government in 1926, through Mr. Rogers' predecessor, referred to the combines act and that the combines act is still on the statute books. In what way does the fact that British Columbia saw fit to pass the sales on consignment act subsequently affect the Dominion government's policy as applied to Dominion legislation?

Probably the truth of the matter is that Mr. Rogers found himself embarrassed by the Courier's publicity of the harsand report of his predecessor and, finding himself in a bit of a hole, was willing to seize upon any excuse, no matter how obvious it might be, to enable him to refrain from changing a position which was untenable in the light of Mr. Elliott's statement.

The Canadian Club

With the local branch of the Canadian Club inaugurating its current season this (Thursday) evening, it may be opportune to recall that of all the organizations of this type in Canada, the aims and objects of the Canadian Club are perhaps the least understood by the large majority of people. For instance, many persons in Kelowna doubtless think that the Canadian Club is a lecture society with social inclinations. Such, however, is far from the case.

The Canadian Club is an organization with a definite program designed to bring about a more united, more happy Canada, a greater nation. The local branch does meet only to hear lectures as its membership roll is such that active undertakings are almost impossible. However, if the local branch were supported by all those Kelowna people who have the interests of Canada at heart the organization might be able to undertake some of the aims and objects of the Association of Canadian Clubs of which it is a member.

Canadian Clubs throughout the country work to foster and encourage a national public opinion and spirit, to stimulate intelligent citizenship, to awaken an interest in public affairs and to cultivate an attachment to the institutions and soil of Canada; to support the participation of Canada in the League of Nations, and in the work of establishing a stable and peaceful world society; to foster friendly and equitable relationships between the two great races of this country in full recognition that each race is equally entitled to express and preserve its own identity and culture; to assist new Canadians in becoming part of the life of the country and to encourage them to become acquainted with Canadian institutions and history of Canada, its economic organization and its problems generally, and its traditions of British justice and liberty; and otherwise to assist in making Canada a strong nation united from sea to sea.

Prepare For Winter

The chilly nights of the past week have made one thing very clear—now is the time to check over your heating plant, be it the humble heater, cook stove or more elaborate furnace. Stove pipes should be checked thoroughly and cleaned. If there is the slightest doubt about them, buy a new outfit for the cost is small and the danger of corroded pipes is great. Give the stove a thorough overhauling. If the firebricks are damaged, have them replaced. Make arrangements to dump your ashes in a safe place. Do not keep them in the cellar where they may start a fire in the early hours of some morning from which you and yours may not emerge alive.

Even in this salubrious climate of the Okanagan a fire once in a while is required and while it is not winter yet, from now on there will be the odd time when you will be glad to have a fire in furnace or stove that has been lying idle since last spring. Heed the warning of the weather and do not delay having your heating plant checked over. Your plant will then give you great economy and the danger to life and property will be considerably lessened.

Burning Leaves

We have gone from the dreary hot summer into the cool of the fall. Now enters that period of purple haze with a harvest moon riding low in the skies and the haunting aroma of burning leaves reaching into the memory.

There is no season that can match its dying beauty; no day in June possesses the gorgeous and tremendous wealth of color. And for a brief interval there will be a hush of infinite sadness and silently the fulness of the earth and the creatures of the air will disappear, leaving the fields bare and the skies void of their songs. And with the falling of the leaves there will be a moment of mourning.

No more of breathless beauty could we expect than this. Autumn is made of fragile gossamer and cobweb. It could not endure forever; we would not want it that way. There is a hint of tremendous sadness, an air of great sorrow that touches the heart and awakens the echoes of the soul, so that the dreariest street takes on a new glow and river and lake become a line of Scriptural beauty. In the very approach of death there comes a great light from the skies and invisible voices are heard singing their requiem.

No element can ever change this about; no force made of man can hope to tinge it even minutely. Nor will we ever weary of it. It comes silently out of its hidden recesses to clothe us in a momentary array of flashing colors and purple sunsets, and then it disappears into the starkness and decay of winter.

This Changing World » » » »

Sir Eyre Crowe, one of the greatest permanent officials in the history of the British Foreign Office, wrote a memorandum in 1907 regarding the foundations of Pax Britannica. In that memorandum he laid it down as axiomatic that Britain must maintain the dominion of the seas against any possible enemy. Yet he added a significant corollary. "Unless," he said, "the British wished to arouse resentment and jealousy as a result of their enjoyment of sea power, our policy must be closely identified with the primary and vital interests of a majority of other nations." Sir Eyre said those primary interests were two: independence and trade. Therefore, he went on, British policy must maintain free trade and at the same time display "a direct and positive interest in the independence of small nations."

On this basis Great Britain played the part of ultimate world power. It did not "run" the world, but it came pretty near to doing so. Last summer in Scandinavia I found a certain nostalgia for those old days. "When Britain kept some kind of order" was a frequent reference. In the palms days of Pax Britannica, they told me, they'd never realized the potency of British power. This was because British leadership derived chiefly from the maintenance of reputation and credit in such a way as to render the exercise of power unnecessary. However, as Philip, Louis XIV, Napoleon, and the Pan Germans could have testified, that power ultimately rested, in Trevelyan's phrase, upon "the battlements of England tossing far far out at sea."

This regime came to an end with the World War. The sea sovereign was then dethroned. During the fighting world power had crossed the Atlantic, and lodged in the United States. At successive naval conferences the fact had to be ratified. At first this was done with considerable reluctance, a reluctance which is easy to appreciate when you recall that never in world history had a sea sovereign relinquished its status without a war. Not till the thirties did the British fully accept the idea of maritime parity with the United States. Moreover, the conquest of the air had introduced a new element into power, and Britain never even got on terms of parity in the air.

The eclipse of British power had its own corollaries. It prevented Britain from dictating a fair of the arguments advanced by a committee of canners who interviewed the Ontario minister of agriculture to discuss the marketing act which is to be enforced in that province next season. The meeting was reported in the Picton (Ont.) Times in an interview with the chairman of the committee. The canning and the tomato growing business in this province is in a sorry state but we imagine that the growers and processors are not so downhearted that they cannot enjoy a chuckle at the Ontario canners statement about the freight rates, albeit the chuckle will be tinged with resentment that the Ontario men should stoop to such absurdly false statements.

peace at Versailles. It prevented Britain from trying to soften the effects of that peace. Instead Britain, her decisive voice subdued, kept up a semi-attachment to the French kite and fear-struck France was concerned only with keeping Germany down. There might have been no problem in Czechoslovakia to come to a head if Britain had still remained the world's kingly.

Without sea or air supremacy there was a waning interest among British policy-makers in identifying British policy with "the primary and vital interests" of mankind. Sauve qui peut became the dominant note. Free trade was abandoned, and in its place commercial policy was concerned in developing a near-exclusive trading corporation out of the British Empire. Only on such terms, probably, could Britain have kept the post-war Empire from flying apart. The independence of small nations? Several times Britain has started to act in the classical manner of Pax Britannica, but each time has drawn back. Manchuria, then Ethiopia, and now Czechoslovakia.

In these cases action to restrain aggression on the lesser powers would, it is true, have produced allies at Geneva and friends outside. The League had replaced Trevelyan's navy as Britain's center of gravity. But, when a showdown came, centuries of relying on her own power prevented Britain from relying partly on others. She backed down rather than co-operate. Especially in regard to Czechoslovakia must she have regarded both Soviet Russia and France as uncertain reeds.

Instead of challenging aggression, therefore, Britain went in for pacifying it. In Czechoslovakia, indeed, she acted as Hitler's stalking horse when the German Chancellor began to bristle with bellicosity. Certainly Britain as world power never would have negotiated the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia under such threats. Incidentally, this is what bothered this writer, not the refusal to fight over Sudetenland.

Chamberlain realism is really a recognition of British limitations. It is no mere coincidence that the present Prime Minister was the first ever to acknowledge that the United States is the world power. It is hard for some Britons to swallow Chamberlain's realism. The hot-blooded want Britain still to act as defender of the peace, and cannot "sit silent when base deeds are done." Middle-of-the-roadsers, as well as Chamberlainites, however, count the cost of knight-errantry, and are not willing to pay it.

Still the crusaders may yet have the chance to rally to an idealistic standard. For Chamberlain, the realist whose policy is dictated by Britain's limitations, has taken on commitments in the Munich settlement which would be staggering in the days of Britain's "splendid isolation."

He has guaranteed Czechoslovakia's shorn frontiers. From the white cliffs of Dover, to the Rhine, now to the Carpathians—Britain's frontier marches on to what Mr. Chamberlain himself called "a distant land," though Britain's prestige declines. This irony of ironies is the anti-climax of Munich. No longer power itself, Britain is assaying more or less on its own the uneasy role of balancer of power, a sort of straddle between "realism" and responsibility.—H. B. Elliston in the Christian Science Monitor.

HOW OFTEN HAVE you read that some person had just celebrated their hundredth birthday and felt a little bit of doubt about the figure? How many persons who have reached a hundred years do you actually know? I knew one grand old man who the records show reached his ninety and ninth year but he passed to his reward a few months ago without reaching the century mark. Then there is that old couple who have been happily married for seventy-five years and some odd months. They are, if I remember correctly, ninety-five and ninety-four and are the longest married couple on this continent if not in the world. But I have never known any person who touched the century mark and I imagine that very few of us have. Remember a few years ago a Turk received a great deal of publicity because he claimed he was a hundred and forty? There are some extraordinary misconceptions as to longevity of both ancients and moderns and when you see a report that so-and-so has celebrated his hundredth birthday you will be pardoned if you suspect that the record has become confused in some manner . . .

r p m

SOME OF THE ERRONEOUS impressions are discussed in an article in the current issue of "Health" . . . There is the famous case of Thomas Parr who is said to have been born in 1483 and died 152 years later. He is supposed to have been married at 88 and had two children but the course of true love did not run smoothly and so he married again . . . this time at the age of 105 and his choice was a widow who herself was 122. Being a pathological curiosity, he was brought from his English countryside to London to meet Charles I and had a wonderful reception and for the first time in his life tasted wine and . . . died shortly after! William Harvey who discovered the circulation of the blood, performed a post-mortem on Thomas Parr but tells us that he found nothing wrong with his organs. "Health" says that of this and other legendary cases of longevity, one can say with assurance that the records were inaccurate. Since the means of registering births has improved there has been no such extreme cases. As a matter of fact only about one person in seventy-five thousand reaches the age of ninety . . .

r p m

IN THE PROVINCE of Quebec the births, marriages and deaths among the French Canadians is practically complete for more than three hundred years. A study of the period from 1608 to 1876 reveals the truth about longevity. Up to the latter date 421 reputed centenarians had died in Canada. Many of these had been immigrants or Indians, the date of whose birth could not be verified. Further accurate study reduced the list to 82 whose ages could be absolutely proved by authentic documents. 72 were positively shown to be less than a hundred years old and only nine have been genuine centenarians. Of the nine only six lived over a hundred years. The only remarkable instance was that of a man who lived to 113 and who had as a matter of fact underestimated his age which was given as 105 at the time of his death. His son, age 82, was at the funeral. Francois Lecomte, who passed as upwards of a hundred when she danced the minuet with the Duke of Kent, Queen Victoria's father, when he was stationed at Quebec, is proved to have been only ninety-four when she died in 1793. And so, if you are a trifle skeptical about the whole thing when it comes to ages, apparently you have every right to be . . .

r p m

MUCH OF THE current news contains little to smile about but nevertheless if one chooses one can obtain a lot of smiles from a newspaper. It is the little homey items which strike the funnybone and it's peculiar how other people's problems so frequently cause one to smile . . . in sympathy perhaps. During my week-end reading I made a note of a few items which made one forget all about marketing and the European situation. Here are some of them. Maybe a reader or two may obtain a smile from them . . . Down in Pennsylvania a chap obtained a job cutting corn and set out to show his farmer-employer he was worthy of his hire. In no time at all he had cut thirty shocks and was still working when the farmer came along and stopped him. He'd been working in a neighbor's field . . . Down in Boone, Iowa, the people are scratching their heads. An ivy has been found growing through the brick wall of a school and beginning its journey across the ceiling. A weed patch has been found growing atop the city hall in cracks in the cornice. Well the residents at least know their town is hardly going to seed . . . Down in Rock Hill, South Carolina, someone phoned the police that an automobile was being driven recklessly up and down the street. He gave the license number of the car, too. Two officers cruising in a patrol car were ordered to hunt down the offender. They hunted until finally one happened to notice that the number reported was that of their own car. There were no arrests . . . Then from the same paper comes this: A man in Kirksville, Mo., handed a jeweler a wrist watch he had found on the running board of a car, to keep for a claimant. After several days no one had claimed the watch and the jeweler proceeded to examine it. It looked familiar and repair marks he had made told him it was his wife's. He looked again at the license number of the car. It was that of his own . . . And then there is that Kelowna woman who bought a new electric refrigerator. She was very proud of it and had an electrician up to the house to put a plug in for it. She had a plug for the house, she told her she had used the same plug. "But," she protested, "I want one to put in the new heat!" . . . I read this the other day and the first part at least is true—a man who gives in when he is wrong is wise, and a man who gives in when he is right is married . . .

r p m

ON MONDAY I RECEIVED a shock. The first Christmas advertising copy came into the office to appear in Tuesday's Advertiser. "Buy your Christmas gifts and toys," it said . . . and it sent me scurrying to the calendar to see if Christmas actually is that close. Sure enough it is only sixty-four days away. Count 'em yourself . . . Then are enough as it so often happens, further proof that Christmas is just around the corner came on the next express. Advertising mats with Santa Claus of all shapes and sizes and a whole flock of new Christmas decorations with which to dress up the ads of the Courier advertisers during the great pre-holiday shopping season. It is hard to realize that Christmas is only a few short weeks away. True, there has been a chill in the air, the leaves are gradually dropping and a white frost has made everything a mass of diamonds in the early mornings, but the bright Okanagan sunshine does not speak of Christmas. I suppose, however, that the calendar does not lie and that "Do your Christmas shopping early" and "Mail your Christmas parcels early" will soon be current watchwords . . .

r p m

AND THE END OF October approaches and that means that the summer schedule of M.S. Holdup is slow and the curfew bell system of nine o'clock last ferry to be inaugurated . . . That is unless the powers that be relent sufficiently to have the Holdup continue to provide a later schedule . . . The matter is of course in the hands of the "Gods" . . . but will we have to seek our downy beds by nine o'clock this winter simply because the Holdup has gone to hers? . . .

TWO BAD ROCK
CUTS REPAIRED
ON ROAD PROJECT

Cather Cut and Slope Nearby on Naramata Road Now Greatly Improved by Drilling

Sunday was Sons of England day on the Naramata Road. Altogether there was a turn out of twenty-five and the weather was perfect for working.

The drill kindly loaned by Pumps and Power Limited had done excellent work in the week it had been operating. Cather Cut, which has always been such an obstacle, had been blown out the night before and the gang started to work getting rid of the rock. At the end of the day one of the best jobs yet done on the road was completed and Cather Cut had been made sufficiently wide for two big trucks to pass. The edge of the slope has been built up solid and would hold a steam roller. Nothing remains to be done except a little surfacing, after which this part of the road will require no more attention. It took a lot of time but the results justify it.

The remainder of the rock cut from Cather Cut down the slope above Kel-ata Cottage has been drilled and blown and it is hoped will be cleared up this week. In the meantime the road is blocked at this point with rocks. As a result this rocky ledge which has always been too narrow will be widened three or four feet and the edge built up solid.

Next Saturday the high school students have an expedition organized and present indications are that about thirty-five will turn out. They are splendid workers as the difficult section known as "High School Heights" bears witness.

On Sunday the Elks are turning out and the following week a large crew from Rutland.

Unfortunately the forward progress has been arrested to take full advantage of the two weeks' drilling but the improvement to the road fully justifies it and in a very short time
the push for Horse Creek will be resumed.

The funds of the association are running low again.

LABOR AGITATORS ADD BURDEN
TO OKANOGAN FRUIT RANCHERS

CIO Agitators Cause Strike at Big Ranch Near Okanogan,
Wash.—Threatened to Burn
Buildings

"Mr. Larrabee, we don't give a (x x x) whether your apples rot on the ground or on the trees or whether the growers make a dime—we want 5 cents a box for picking!"

Thus spoke an asserted CIO labor agitator in jail at Okanogan Wash., on Wednesday, October 12, during the height of excitement at the big B. and
O. orchard, located between Malott and Okanogan, when 175 workers struck, the majority of them allegedly through intimidation.

Excitement ran high at the ranch
and not a single apple was picked,
according to members of the Associated Farmers of Washington. Several Wenatchee members rushed to Okanogan when a general call went out for assistance. Farmers converged on the town from all points, including Lou Pruitt, Wenatchee, state vice-president of the organization, but were asked not to go to the ranch until a peaceful settlement had been attempted.

King-Leaders Spotted

Lee Grubb, who went north with Pruitt, said: "When we got there all work had closed down and there was a crowd outside the big packing sheds.
The ring-leaders were spotted by the officers and taken to one side. When one officer took the fellow who was doing most of the talking to one side he refused to talk man to man but shouted to the assemblage. He seemed to want to make a speech. Things looked pretty hot for a while. Farmers came from all directions. One of the two men arrested told Mr. Larrabee, ranch operator, that the apples could rot on the trees or on the ground.
He wanted five cents a box for picking."

"Then there was a general invitation to all the dissatisfied ones to go to the office for their checks. About 25 or 28 left in cars and trucks provided for them. The balance, or about 150 workers, stood by and cheered as the agitators left."

"Sheriff Hildebrand came on the scene more or less unprepared and he sent one of his men back for some equipment including gas shells."

Grubb said there was some grumbling and low talking going on among those who quit when they got their checks at the office.

"Someone heard one of the fellows say they would be back at night to burn the sheds, and he was placed under arrest," said Grubb.

Special deputies were placed on the ranch at night to guard against vandalism and "fire-bugs."

First Trouble for Years

It was the first labor disturbance of the 1938 apple harvest in North Central Washington. Four weeks ago CIO labor organizers were reported due in the Okanogan valley to attempt organization of agricultural labor. No one showed up at a scheduled meeting, and it is believed by members of the Associated Farmers of Washington that organizers slipped in quietly, choosing the big B. and O. to work on.
CIO organizers from Seattle were reportedly invited to work in the Okanogan district by the Workers' Alliance, WPA labor group of that district.

Farmers Organized

Organization of 300 growers and ranchers as Associated Farmers in the Okanogan district has been completed, and are now ready to combat violence or delays in fruit movement, although they reiterate the farmers' policy of "unions are fine things when they do not abuse the original purpose for which they were organized."

"The B. and O. has a fine crop and it would be a shame to have it suffer
the loss a strike would cause," Sheriff Boyd Hildebrand said.

"The great majority of those working out there are well satisfied and we aren't going to have outside agitators coming in and stirring up any trouble."

About 250 persons are employed on the orchard, which is being operated this year by John Larrabee, Pateros grower.

"Working conditions at the B. and O. orchard are the best obtainable," said Pruitt. "The bunk houses and bathrooms are fine. Most of those who walked out had been intimidated. They didn't know what to do about it as they had been threatened they would have their heads bashed in if they didn't strike. Most of the workers are making $5 to $8 daily. Of course some slower ones make less. The trouble started early yesterday morning and lasted until noon. At 1 p.m. everything was running smoothly again."

Those arrested are Joe A. Stevens, 37, Seattle, and Arthur Johnson, 37, Arkansas. Fifteen transients were placed aboard a freight train and ordered to keep moving.

Of the 175 who walked out 150 returned to their jobs immediately after the agitators had been taken to jail and 28 dissatisfied ones quit when company officials told the assembled group that checks awaited them.

Fruit pickers in the Okanogan Valley of British Columbia receive between three and four cents per box according to variety. Most growers are paying four cents but there is still a number of growers in the Kelowna district who only pay out 3½ cents per box. Never in the history of the Okanogan Valley has the price paid to pickers reached five cents per box
as a standard wage.

Fall Fair Fund to Have Added
Cash Balance from Proceeds of Annual Affair This Year

Endorsement of the resolution passed at the convention at Vancouver by the Women's Institutes providing for a per capita tax of 30c per member for provincial and federal was given at the meeting of the Peachland Women's Institute on Friday afternoon.
At the present time a 15c per capita charge is made with an added call for delegates' expenses during the convention year. The 30c tax is designed to cover all requirements.

A balance of $36 from the fall fair was reported and this is to be put into the fall fair fund. A resolution was passed providing that any cash balance in any year will be put to the fall fair fund. An annual fall fair was decided, with suggestions for improvements to be made at the November meeting.

The school section of the prize list is to be left in the hands of Mrs. M.
E. Dell, secretary of the school board in collaboration with the teachers.

M. N. Barwick, principal of the public school wrote to ask for someone to teach the girls knitting, sewing, etc., and Mrs. F. Wright offered to do this work.

Mr. T. Redstone and Mrs. J. Stump volunteered to act on the Christmas tree committee.
A humorous recitation by Miss Sheila McKay and two duets by Mrs.
E. H. Hunt and Mrs. G. Watt accompanied by Mrs. V. Milner-Jones were appreciated, while community singing led by Mrs. R. Nourse was also enjoyed.

Bigger Shipments
Sixty-two cars have been shipped from Walter's packing house this year to October 12, eleven more than last year at the same date. Twenty-seven straight cars of Macs were included in this number. Apples are being cleaned up rapidly here with the Jonathans practically all picked and the later varieties coming in fast. Walter's Ltd. expects to pack into November but the Great Ranch and the G. Gar-ling packing house will finish this month. It is expected. The weather has been ideal for picking with no
frost in this district until October 16.

Two municipal properties were sold at the council meeting on Wednesday evening. The upset price of $410, half cash, was offered for the Bryson Whyte property by Mrs. M. Witt and her son H. M. Witt of Bayonne. J. A.
Maddock offered $125 cash for lot 61
block 1184 on behalf of his brother R.
W. Maddock of Winnipeg. Accounts for September amounting to $1,025.08
were passed.

All four teachers, Miss J. Shaw and
E. H. Bowring of the high school and Miss L. Morsh and M. N. Barwick of the public school attended the teachers' convention at Penticton Friday and Saturday.

Are you one of the 200,000?

THAT'S the approximate number of men and women who come of age every year in Canada.

Some start work at fourteen, sixteen or twenty; some go to college; some graduate from the school of hard knocks, and some never graduate from it.

But there is one common ground on which all can meet, and that is the habit of saving money and putting it in the bank regularly. A good habit, from which all conditions of men and women will benefit.

8 Things to SAVE for Regularly recurring expenses, such as life insurance premiums.
A home of your own.
A child's education.
Your wedding.
Investments in sound securities.
An automobile.
Bargains for cash.
A real holiday.

Money in the bank is far more than a reserve for "rainy" days. To each of this year's 200,000 a bank account will mean confidence, so essential to youth's success; and when opportunity comes along, a fund of ready cash to provide a means to grasp it.

Comparison with Budget Reveals to Kelowna School Board that Expenditures are Heavy

BIGGER ENROLLMENTS

Supervisor of Home Economics for B.C. States Part-time Instructions Must be Employed Soon

Kelowna school trustees, just when they were preparing to spend approximately $100 for much-needed repairs to the primary school building, were rudely jolted by the presentation on Wednesday evening, October 12, of a financial statement showing the expenditures by departments for the year to date, as against the budgeted expenditure.

The trustees received a shock as the figures indicated that the expenditures came closer to the budgeted figures than ever before at this season of the year. Therefore, the primary school alterations, much as they are needed, will have to wait until another year.

A form of homogeneous grading has been adopted by the elementary school and is now working fairly smoothly, F. T. Marriage reports. His enrollment is 687 pupils. At the end of September the junior high enrollment shows 33 more pupils than in 1937, for a total of 350. R. B. Stibbs informed the school board.

On Friday, October 14, the Kelowna schools were closed to allow the teachers to attend the annual convention of the Okanagan Valley school teachers association in Penticton. If any teacher did not attend the convention, then class continued as usual. The usual permission for attendance at the convention was granted on Wednesday by the Kelowna school board.

Use of the junior high auditorium for a concert by the boys' band was granted by the school board last week at the rental of $15.

A warning from the city council that the new street signs in the school area should not be tampered with was ordered passed along to the principals for the pupils to be so informed.

The question of the senior matriculation annual fee of $100 was discussed by the school board and it was decided to continue the principal adopted in former years of not allowing any rebate if a pupil does not join until one or two months have elapsed. This fee is an annual one and although pupils are allowed to pay on a monthly basis, if necessary, it is not estimated as such.

While playing football on the school grounds in September, Floyd Caza met with an accident and received medical attention, the trustees learned in a report from A. A. Chapman.

When the trustees met in convention at Kamloops, the Kelowna delegates made a point of obtaining valuable information regarding practices in other centres relative to grading of pupils. The trend in the elementary schools today is to give a pupil the class of work he or she will be able to accomplish and not endeavor to hold the student back with work too difficult for him to accomplish, simply because other pupils who are brighter are able to grasp it more quickly.

No serious ailments have been reported in the schools this year to date, according to Nurse Dorothy McKenzie's monthly report.

Fire insurance policies were ordered renewed at last week's October meeting.

Miss J. L. McLenghen, supervisor of home economics classes throughout the province, paid a visit recently to the Kelowna schools and expressed her pleasure with the improvements made during the summer holidays to the home economics class room. Overcrowded conditions carried her, however, and Mrs. T. Treadgold, trustee, told the school board that Miss McLenghen insists that a part-time teacher will have to be employed, besides the regular instructress.

There are 100 home economic classes in B.C., 24 more than were in force last year.

Mrs. Treadgold, W. Shugg and Chairman Dave Chapman reported on the Kamloops convention of the B.C. school trustees' association and declared that the gathering had been well worthwhile and most enlightening.

Thanks of the Kelowna trustees for the hospitality and careful arrangement of details at the convention is being extended to the Kamloops school board.

Incidentally, it was mentioned at this convention that Dave Chapman, well-known Kelowna school board chairman, is entering his ninth consecutive year as a member of the B.C. association executive which constitutes a record for this province in length of consecutive service.

INTERNATIONAL WAR SCARE PLAYED HAVOC WITH APPLE MARKET IN OLD COUNTRY BUT VALUES RECOVER

McIntosh Slip from Original High Levels but Still Command Good Figure, W. B. Gornall Reveals in Report at End of September—B. C. Boxed Apples Arrive in Increasing Quantities

THE crisis in the International political situation has been the prevailing topic of the week, and war preparations and activities in connection with air raid precautions have preoccupied the minds of everyone, declares the fruit market report number 4, issued by Mr. W. B. Gornall, London, Eng., on September 30th. In consequence the markets have been listless, buyers being interested only in the requirements of the moment, not knowing what tomorrow may bring forth.

When the crisis was at its height the market would have fallen to extremely low levels if importers had attempted to force sales, but they wisely withdrew any fruit capable of being held, and only sold varieties which were in a forward state of maturity, or other fruit for which a fairly reasonable price could be obtained. The peak of the crisis is now passed and the tension has been relieved, but with what rapidly the market will recover to normal it is impossible to say. Unfortunately some damage has been undoubtedly effected, a fairly large volume of fruit which should have gone into consumption has yet to be sold and fresh arrivals are beginning to accumulate, with further cargoes now afloat expected within the next few days. Quality of fruit, however, has been on the whole quite good, and should demand quick return to normal with the passing of the crisis, financial returns may not be altogether unsatisfactory.

London received a fairly large cargo of Scotians at the beginning of the week, comprising 24,000 barrels and 9,840 half barrels. A considerable portion consisted of Gravensteins that, with the exception of a few packs were in a rather forward condition demanding immediate sale. The first auction sale took place on Tuesday afternoon, when Gravenstein realized somewhat lower values than last week, but the limited volume of fruit available were in better demand and the bulk of No. 1 grade realized from 19/- to 20/- with a few Blenheims at about the same level. Cox Orange in half barrels sold fairly well, No. 1's 13/6 to 17/-, with Domestic about 2/- lower.

The bulk of this cargo was offered for sale when the European crisis was at its height, and only a small part changed hands. Gravensteins, due to the rather advanced stage of maturity, were sold at the buyer's ideas of value, but a very listless demand quickly developed and unsold offerings were withdrawn. Cox Orange were held to a price range of 14/- to 17/6 for half-barrels and similar action was taken with respect to other varieties. A rather listless demand still continues, price levels are difficult to determine, and a considerable volume of the ss. "Dinteldyk" cargo remains unsold.

Unfortunately, new arrivals of Scotians have been unloaded, the ss. "Herdis" delivering 15,270 barrels and 3,750 half barrels, and the ss. "Beemsterdyk" with 24,000 barrels and 6,350 halves, is expected early next week. On the other hand, American arrivals in the United Kingdom for week ending October 4th show a very definite decline, being reported at 7,000 barrels and 5,000 hampers, which in total is 67% and 82% less than the arrivals during the two previous weeks respectively. Boxed apples, at 44,000 boxes, are 33% higher than last week, but 26% lower than two weeks ago. This situation should be materially helpful to the prospects for Nova Scotians.

The total volume of apples on the Liverpool market during the week is estimated at 22,391 barrels and 14,956 boxes, of which Canada supplied nearly 77%. But total supplies were over 50% lighter than last week, a fact that has undoubtedly materially assisted to stabilize the market, the prevailing conditions of taint.

Consistently good cargoes arriving from Nova Scotia for fruit ex ss. "Havmo" have the reputation created this season. Gravenstein formed a large part somewhat forward prices declined. Blenheims and the first market we

PEACHLAND HEARS OF BIBLE SOCIETY WORK IN SPAIN

Rev. Nelson Harkness Addresses United Church Gathering on Spain and Outlines its History

"Under the Spanish government there has never been any hindrance to Bible society work in Spain," declared the Rev. Nelson Harkness in the Peachland United church on Wednesday evening. Speaking of the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society, which he represents, Mr. Harkness gave a summary of present day conditions which was followed by a series of lantern slides depicting scenes in Spain and the work of distribution of Bibles there.

After being introduced by the president of the local society, R. Harrington who noted the commemoration this year of the 400 years of the open Bible in Great Britain, Mr. Harkness gave the year 1937 as the biggest year they had ever had. In that year, 12 new translations had been made with the present number of translations now being 1,015.

Referring to war torn Spain, he stated that being a very backward country, Spain was now going through what France had in the revolution. Spain had never before been caught in the social and economic reform movement, and now the peasants were rising up and demanding their place and a share in the wealth. With General Franco and the insurgents were the landowners and industrialists, with the peasants and the workers on the side of the government. Spain had no public school system and forty-five per cent of the people could neither read or write. Of the total taxes collected seventy per cent went into the coffers of the national church and pictures were shown to show the wealth of these churches.

When, in 1931 a republic form of government was set up, a system of reform was begun, but this met with opposition from the wealthy landowners. It had been said that the Spanish government was opposed to religion but when in 1936 the United Front government was established, the Bible Society representatives had gone everywhere under the protection of the government. Of the 475 members of parliament only 16 were Communistic and none of these had been taken into the cabinet.

Tracing the hundred years of the Bible in Spain he recounted the story of George Borrow who had started the work 100 years ago. He recommends the book written by Borrow, "The Bible in Spain" which gave a detailed account of this work.

Pictures were shown of the beautiful palaces, churches and buildings for which Spain had been noted. He showed the Bible House in Madrid, which was open every day but one, with faithful workers in charge. On one occasion a bomb had fallen on the roof of this building but it had not exploded.

He appealed for support for the work to send the Bibles in every part of the world. Chinese, he said, are the greatest Bible reading people in the world.

tario barrelled apples of good quality, but supplies are very limited. Wolf River and Alexandra of large size and poorer quality are finding a sale only at considerably lower prices.

Ontario plums are arriving in very variable condition and some shipments to Glasgow were ripe and rather wasty. The best packs of Reine Claudes were in demand, around 12/6 per half hamper, with Grand Dukes and Italian plums two to three shillings lower. Damsons were also wasty. The market for pears shows no signs of recovery and values are at very low levels. Howell and Flemish Beauty have arrived in ripe and wasty condition, and a considerable quantity is reported as unsaleable. D'Anjou, which are expected to bring fair prices, are finding a very slow demand at 8/3 to 9/6 per box, according to grade and size.

Sport Gossip

By J. R. A.

At the time of starting this column, I haven't the foggiest notion what is going to be in it. Sports activities are at a dead end apart from hunting and your Gossiper is too cross-eyed to do much of that. I did hear Doc "Tooth-puller" Day remarking the other day that Maurice Lane has been trying for two years to hit a bird and last Sunday he finally connected, with the result that his gun burst apart. It's a fairly nice story, and one which happens to be true. At least, last Sunday's section, at least. Charles DeMara and Gordon Finch will vouch for the veracity of the yarn.

But honestly, what can a fellow write about. Baseball is passe. Basketball has not reared its fearsome head to any extent. The badminton shuttlers are just getting into their stride and just a little early for Cooley Campbell to be throwing out what he fondly hopes is his chest and challenging Bill Embrey or Cece Atkinson to a duel, along with his wiley co-partner in crime, Paul Hayes. Of course, Paul will have a tough winter now that the Lambeth Walk has taken a big bite out of his favorite Big Apple. Paul's badminton game is liable to slip so badly brother Leo will beat him.

Had a frantic phone call from Jim Purvis, out Rutland way, on Monday. Even if you don't know Jim, you have read or seen his elongated star brother, Long John, of Province, Stacey's and now Tooke's fame. Jim wants to feel the pigskin once more and has itchy fingers. They say it is a mental disease but never mind that for now. Your Gossiper had it once but since he took to refereeing and other vile pastimes there is not the same allure. Every fan knows the reason for that. All umpires and referees should wear glasses, and here is one that doesn't—yet—despite what Mr. Critical Fan has to say.

In this office we have a linotype operator who is a steady publicity agent for the badminton and tennis clubs. Every week he is bothering me with stories of his own prowess or some new activity at the tennis or badminton clubs, according to the season. People say he is fairly good, but I haven't bothered to find out. This week he informs me with some pride that the shuttle club has about twenty new members lined up, which is good news for any such organization. After many years of service, R. Seale has dropped out of the secretaryship of the badmintonists and Bob Willis has been appointed in his stead, with Len Richards as treasurer. Mr. Seale will be missed by the racket wielders as he was a steady, reliable sort who always carried out his duties faithfully. A fine accomplishment, that.

Mr. Linotype Operator has also whispered some trifling details concerning inter-club matches which the Kelownians are planning. It seems that they have ambitions to visit surrounding villages like Vernon and Penticton and clean them off the face of the map. It has been done before and may happen again. Who am I to judge. However, they generally wield

SERG. MACDONALD WINS SWEEP

Last Sunday Sergeant Macdonald was the winner of the golf club sweepstakes from a fair-sized field, shooting an 81 for a net 67. Bill Dobson was second with a gross 80, and a net 68. Another sweep will be played at the Kelowna golf course this Sunday.

a pretty mean shuttle in these parts, and what with the odd Canadian champion or two in our midst we can afford to be nonchalant.

"How will hockey in the north Okanagan effect basketball in Kelowna this winter" was one question asked this writer a short time ago. Personally, I believe it will have an effect on the gate receipts the same as last year, but the drain should be no greater. This year the novelty will wear off and it is doubtful if as many persons will make the trip in the tough weather. However, Vernon will still have a big following from the Kelowna district for their hockey displays, a much bigger following than Vernon ever showed coming to any Kelowna affairs. Kelownians seem to like to travel, or maybe it is the prevalence of the licensed premises in Vernon which provides an added incentive.

As was said at the beginning of this rambling narrative I had nothing to say, and having said it, will conclude.

KELOWNA CHALLENGE TEAM FAILS IN TROPHY RACE ON 18TH HOLE

Bid for Rose Bowl Failure as Two Kelowna Teams Lose Out—Last Gasp

Penticton lady golfers still retain the coveted rose bowl challenge trophy which designates supremacy in golf among the various clubs in the Okanagan Valley, but it was only by the narrowest of margins that the trophy remained in the south last Saturday as a determined team of Kelowna golfers lost out on the eighteenth hole.

Mrs. Anne McClymont and Mrs. J. C. Kennedy played Miss Evelyn Thomas and Miss Fisher in one combination while Mrs. D. E. Oliver and Mrs. A. S. Underhill represented Kelowna against Mrs. R. McNicoll and Mrs. Robertson in the other bracket. Each team played eighteen holes, and Penticton ended the play with a margin of 4 points to 2.

Both foursomes came to the seventeenth all square and Penticton was able to defeat the Kelowna teams in both matches on the eighteenth.

Penticton also triumphed in an inter-club match on the same day, the Kelowna golfers being Mrs. P. B. Wilhite, Mrs. C. Owen, Mrs. C. M. DeMara, Mrs. R. B. Staples, Mrs. G. E. Wiseman, Mrs. J. N. Cushing and Mrs. A. Weddell.

Mrs. J. N. Cushing is the handicap champion of the Kelowna golf club, following her victory on Thursday afternoon last in the finals for the Underhill in the last round.

First round play for the captain's cup was scheduled last Sunday and 26 players participated. This competition was for beginners and for those with handicaps of 36 and over.

In the hidden hole competition, played in connection with the captain's cup, Mrs. Gough and Miss Mary Rattebury tied, with Mrs. Gough winning the toss.

Next Saturday, besides the monthly medal play, a special attraction is due for the Kelowna lady golfers, as L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, father of the late "Turk" Lewis, has presented the club with six fine golf balls. A handicap competition will be run off to decide the winners of these special prizes, two of the balls going to the lady scoring the lowest net handicap count and four others going to the next four in order of low net scores.

DONATES GOLF BALL PRIZES

L. A. Lewis, well-known New Westminster sportsman, has donated half a dozen golf balls to the men's section of the Kelowna golf club, which will be competed for next Sunday in the weekly sweepstakes competition. Two balls will go to the golfers with the two best gross scores and the four others to the next four best net scores. Competitors may play their match any time on Sunday, Captain Harry Todd states.

SCOTS ACTIVELY ATTACKING ALL SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Canadian Glasgow Exhibit Disappointing, Speaker Tells Rotary Club

That Scotland has a people actively attacking the social problems of the country and definitely determined to produce a race worthy of its ancestors was the impression which Dr. W. W. MacPherson told the Rotary Club on Tuesday, that he brought back from his visit to his native heath this summer.

Canada had definitely failed to capitalize upon the Glasgow exhibition as an opportunity of making the British people Canada conscious, was Dr. MacPherson's second point. One heard much more of Australia in Scotland than of Canada while at the exhibition the Australia, Irish, South African and a number of other exhibits of Dominions and colonies created more interest than that of Canada. In his opinion the South African exhibit was superior to the others. It put across the point that South Africa is a fine and attractive country. The Canadian exhibit was disappointing being comprised chiefly of canned goods. It lacked imagination and to top the climax the attendant was not well informed about the country. For instance he had but a hazy idea of the geographical situation of Kelowna.

The speaker dealt with the great Glasgow exhibition for the greater part of his talk but he did refer to the happy, healthy attitude of the young people of the country. Social security through the unemployment insurance, splendid recreational facilities and adequate educational institutions and libraries all helped in developing a sound outlook and healthy minds and bodies.

The Camera Enthusiast

PAT O'BRIEN is the sort of person you'd know would smoke a pipe. He does it with a gusto and so do his four best pals—Jimmy Cagney, Frank McHugh, Spencer Tracy and Allen Jenkins. "We five," says Pat, "are the mugs of Hollywood." Mavourneen, his daughter, has not yet passed the age when she wants to blow out the match when daddy lights his pipe—his "dudeen" he calls it—for, though American-born and staunchly American, he has a feeling for the misty green Isle—the fight and the fun of it and the glamor—and no one knows better than Mavourneen that the best time to ask him for a story about the "Little People" is just before her bedtime when he sits puffing away at his pipe with that faraway look in the two eyes of him. Pat's next picture is Warners' "Garden of the Moon."

CAGERS START CHATTER AS SEASON LOOMS

Prospects That all of Last Year's B.C. Championships will be Out in Force Again

Last evening the annual meeting of the Kelowna basketball club was held and presaged a new season which will bring forth many first and furious hoop contests for the fans of this district. Last year the provincial Senior B championship came to Kelowna once more, while the Scouts Intermediate Bs captured the Interior title and were unable to travel to Nanaimo for the final.

It would appear at this time that all of last year's provincial champions would be out in force for this season, while Jim Purvis, former Summerland and Penticton hooper, and who has been playing a snappy brand of ball at the coast in the past few years, is in Rutland and may be here for the winter.

Jim is itching to get his fingers on a basketball once more and expects to appear for Kelowna at the start of the season. He is brother of the famous "Long John" Purvis of Vancouver, who is signed with Tooke's this year in the senior A Vancouver loop. Harold Henderson will be the only player missing from the Scouts lineup, and these lads will be stepping up into Intermediate A grouping. Players from last year's Intermediate A team will probably line up with them to make for a strong squad.

There is plenty of young talent coming up in the schools to feed these teams for some years to come. The ball club is still in the "red" financially, but has reduced its debt by some $200 in the past year. It is hoped that this year will see the back debt wiped out and the club placed on a stronger financial basis.

Already, Tooke's have asked to come to Kelowna for the annual Boxing Day attraction while elite strong teams will be lined up within a short time. Practice will probably start early next month.

BENVOULIN OLD-TIMER WILL MOVE TO COAST

C. E. Weeks Leaving Shortly—Church to be Repaired Soon

Benvoulin will lose one of its old timers in the person of Mr. C. E. Weeks, who has resided there for over thirty years, and is soon to leave for the Coast where he has purchased property in Burnaby. Mr. Weeks has always taken an active part in the life of the community, and has served as trustee on the Benvoulin school board while Mrs. Weeks has been a valued member of the W.A. for many years.

There was a good representation from this district at the school teachers convention which was held in Penticton last week. Miss Reid and Miss Henderson of Mission Creek school, Miss Lang and Miss Peterman from the Benvoulin school, also Mr. Frank Snowsell, Mr. Ed. Gieve and Miss Ivy Gieve who reside in this district.

Rev. Ashford of Summerland will address the Benvoulin congregation next Sunday, the occasion being the forty-sixth anniversary of the Church. Col. Moody gave an interesting report of the meeting of the Presbytery last Sunday which was held in Revelstoke last week.

A meeting of the board of church stewards was held on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. A. Reid. Plans were discussed for the repair work, which is necessary on the Church. This will begin in the very near future.

CANCER DEATHS INCREASE IN BRITAIN

The have 65,000 deaths from cancer in Great Britain annually. Each year since England began her records of mortality cancer has shown an increased mortality. Notwithstanding this apparent increase in cancer it is not believed that the increase is an actual one. The explanation is that increased length of life (fifteen years more than a generation ago) the better ability of the doctors to diagnose cancer and the improved records of the present day reveal cancer to an extent not found in former times. In a word we are finding more cancer cases than our grandfathers or our fathers found.

Lady Barrett a noted woman doctor, gave statistics of the London Cancer Clinic. She pointed out that of early cancer cases treated five years ago, 83 per cent are alive and well today; of patients treated later when the disease was more advanced 65 per cent still survive. Of all the patients treated, 35 per cent were alive and well at the end of five years. These figures indicate that if patients could be induced to seek treatment in the early stage, there is a very good hope of complete cure.

"What," asks a noonday orator, "is more genuinely satisfying than a tie between father and son?" Two ties—if father wishes to be completely dressed.

season gets underway they mysteriously disappear.

At least, that is the consensus of opinion of a great many hunters who toured the Kelowna district since Saturday. Some hunters have been fortunate, have run into favorite haunts and have obtained their limit. But most of the hunting parties did not bag their limit on the opening day. Some members of parties did, but the number of parties whose members all shot four pheasants each were few and far between.

Hen pheasants, which may not be shot without fear of a penalty, are plentiful to the extreme in the district, but the cock birds are not. Ducks are said to be more plentiful this season than for years past and hunters are bagging many of the fine mallards as dusk settles down over the sloughs.

Bag limit for pheasants is four daily and 15 for the season. The pheasant season lasts until November 15.

Hotel accommodation was crowded to capacity over the week-end to house the many visiting hunters who arrived for opening shots. In the southern part of the Valley, it is said, that several provincial policemen were sent in to guard against those who might become hogs and attempt to shoot too many of the birds.

For the first three days, on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the open hours were from 12 o'clock noon until 4 p.m., but for the rest of the open season shooting hours are from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

advantage over the Ontario processors in competition for the prairie market."

The eastern paper reports that Mr. Dewar told the canners the marketing act would be enforced next session regardless of any opposition and that it would be given a fair trial. The canners stated that they would not oppose the act provided it can be worked out on a basis satisfactory to both the growers and the canners.

The committee pointed out that their competition was not confined to Ontario but was interprovincial and export as well. Emphasis was placed upon the Quebec situation where low labor costs and no marketing act had a direct bearing upon Ontario canning operations. There are some hundred thousand persons engaged in the canning business in Quebec owing to the fact that the farmer grows his product and does his own processing in a home plant. The Ontario market is unable to consume the pack of the province and consequently the Ontario canner is forced to compete for the rest of the markets in the Dominion and Europe. In the latter market Italy has a decided advantage due to lower freight costs and lower labor costs.

icism has arisen regarding the sending of relief cars to prairie points and many complaints as to abuses of the privilege have been heard.

Wire From Alberta
When Alberta first started to request relief cars this year, one shipper in the Kelowna district received the following telegram from the local secretary of the United Farmers of Alberta in one district: "Has been announced over radio and press that growers in B.C. are donating 15 to 30 cars free apples for Alberta. In this entire district with possibly one or two exceptions this is not warranted and will destroy market and sales of Macs and winters. We are doing what we can to prevent flood of apples similar to last year and it would be appreciated if you could influence shippers to make sure they are shipping to points where actually required."

Movement of apples over the single-track agency has not been good this past week, due in part to the mild weather prevailing on the prairies. When the government orders are received and the first freeze-up occurs on the prairies, the board members expect a big increase in movement.

Fancy face and (11) Jonathans were re-quoted at 70 cents per box by the board this week, as it was found that about thirty per cent of the Jonathans will have to be sold domestic this year because of larger sizes. It is that the trade, especially on the Vancouver market, has taken to this offer well, and a good movement of large sized Jonathans resulted.

Some excellent export business to Brazil has been reported in the past two weeks, especially of large-sized apples which would not sell readily on any other markets. More than fifty cars are expected to roll to South America some bookings being made direct with importers in that country and others through New York agents.

Large sized Delicious are being utilized for these orders, averaging 72s. to 125s.

The export market to the Old Country is continuing at a rapid rate and was much firmer Wednesday morning than it had been for several days.

Jonathan were quoted anywhere from 10s 9d to 13s 6d. McIntosh were not so high in price but had strengthened.

Advertising Campaign
Early next month the fruit board will undertake its advertising campaign from Vancouver to Winnipeg, with window display competitions being featured. Radio advertising campaigns are also being planned. This year, in each district, a committee of brokers and jobbers is handling the advertising and determining the best means to distribute the fruit. The jobbers are adding to the funds provided by the fruit board.

Most of the shippers have agreed to book orders under the one-desk deal, and only one or two shippers of any consequence have not signed the agreement yet. One shipper in the Kelowna district is expected to sign this afternoon.

PREMIER WELCOMES GOVERNOR-GENERAL FARMERS' INSTITUTE WANTS ENQUIRY

Sun-tanned and appearing in excellent health after spending the summer in Great Britain, the governor-general, Lord Tweedsmuir, was welcomed back to Ottawa by Premier Mackenzie King.

Britain's Changing Empire

The Dictator States have much to answer for, but as happens frequently in this strange world, their actions have had helpful effects. One of these is the new impulse to Empire development, which has moved the people of the British Commonwealth in recent years.

Britain was said, before the World War, to be Empire-conscious; British imperialism was even blamed by some for that calamity; and in terms of movement of population to the Dominions, Britons at that time were certainly not mindful of opportunities. But all the activities of those days seem minor and haphazard when compared with the massive, deliberate inter-state planning of the present time. Whereas in 1913 the Empire "grewed," like Topsy, more or less of its own accord, today it is being nurtured and protected like a precious child.

The change is not, of course, wholly due to recent danger of aggression; there were powerful and warlike nations, ambitious for wider possessions, long before Adolf Hitler's arrival. The first and most potent step in the transformation took place when Canada, South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand shook themselves free from the apron strings of London and gained complete sovereignty over their own territories. From that day onward the Empire became, instead of a group of Colonies, a union of States, each enjoying the same independence in home and foreign affairs as the Mother Country itself.

The altered conditions brought new and difficult problems in their train. With independence came a desire on the part of the Dominions to conserve their resources and at the same time to expand their wealth. Their power role of modest primary producers no longer sufficed to provide employment and a rising standard of living for their people. Agricultural output had to be widely expanded. At the same time secondary industries sprang up, seeking markets in their own countries.

The trade of Great Britain, already feeling the blast of world depression, was immediately affected. Dominion orders, which once maintained thousands of workers in Birmingham, Glasgow, Sheffield, and elsewhere, were no longer forthcoming; while imports of Dominion produce came to England in such quantities that farmers there faced ruin. In the Empire countries agriculturists and industrialists alike suffered increasing hardship. The strain became such that the various governments were forced to intervene. Popular opinion in all countries demanded an unravelling of the knot. It was in these circumstances that the Ottawa Conference met in 1932.

The agreement which resulted was the first major attempt to plan inter-imperial trade. It was not an unqualified success, and many similar efforts have followed, the last of which, affecting Australia and Great Britain, took place a few weeks ago. The outcome of that Conference can make no better claim than Ottawa to perfection and finality, but it forms one more link in the chain of intimate agreements which are gradually regulating the entire commerce of the Commonwealth. The political disturbances of the world led in 1935 and subsequent years to a fresh series of discussions. Dangers grimmer than economic blizzards were now at hand; the peace and security of the Empire were threatened; the long lines of communication were in peril. To the problems of trade were now added those of defense, and they were many and anxious. The Imperial Conference of last year, attended by the Prime Ministers and leaders of every part of the Empire, was concerned almost exclusively with these and related matters. It is not known what schemes emerged from the lengthy debates, but they were no doubt detailed and comprehensive.

It may fairly be said of the present period that, from the point of view of trade and defense, the Empire has never been so carefully surveyed, so closely knit, so well developed. The efforts of our imperial statesmen in these directions have been vigorous and decisive.

It is the more to be regretted that out of all their conferences nothing constructive has emerged to provide for that further development without which, neither trade nor defense can be maintained, namely, the increase of man power in the Dominion countries.

Despite all that has been done, despite the improvements in communications, the advance of natural science and the development of industries, 49,000,000 of the 70,000,000 white population of the British Empire still remain congregated in the British Isles. Canada, with an area of 3,500,000 square miles, maintains a population of only 10,400,000; Australia, with 3,000,000 square miles, only 6,700,000; New Zealand, with 105,000 square miles, 1,500,000; and South Africa, with 472,000 square miles, 9,500,000. It is a staggering reflection that at the same time England, with only 51,000 square miles of land, provides work and accommodation for no less than 40,000,000 persons!

In ordinary circumstances, so glaring a maldistribution of people would probably bring about its own remedy. In the present case the reverse is true. Before the World War, emigration from the British Isles to the Dominions was proceeding at a rate of 285,000 persons per annum. In the last years it has practically ceased, and there is now a net movement back to England of 8,000 persons each year. Meanwhile, the birth rate in almost every country in the Empire is falling. In the United Kingdom it was once 36.3 per 1,000; today it is 14.7. In Australia it has slumped from 27 to 17.1, and in New Zealand from 27 to 16.6. In Canada, save for the French Province of Quebec, the decline is no less serious. Only in South Africa, with a rate of 24.4 per 1,000, is any relief to be found. And when it is realized that a birth-rate of not less than 19.5 per 1,000 is needed to keep population at its present level, the need for action becomes rudely apparent.

It was no wonder that the Duke of Devonshire, Parliamentary Undersecretary for State for the Dominions, said the other day in the House of Lords: "We can take it as a fact that unless we can populate (the) Empire within a reasonable time, then someone else will populate it for us." Fortunately for the Empire, thinking men at the prospect and are addressing their thoughts afresh to the problem. As usual in England, the first signs of agitation come from outside the Government, and there has recently been formed a new organization pledged to bring Empire development to the forefront in British politics. Its beginnings were notable.

In November of last year an unofficial conference took place in the Guildhall, London, attended by representatives from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, by delegates from nearly every Empire organization in England, and by some of the most prominent figures in British public life. After a vigorous debate, resolutions were adopted calling for an early resumption of Empire migration and urging the Government to "establish a Statutory Authority immune from changes of Government, with definite powers, and charged with the duty, in co-operation with similar bodies in the Overseas Dominions, to initiate, consider, and aid in carrying into effect schemes for the encouragement of all forms of useful Empire activities, migration, and development upon adequately financed and properly supervised basis."

The meeting attracted widespread attention in the British and Empire press. It was followed a few weeks later by a deputation to Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, at which the leaders of the Conference spoke to the terms of the resolutions. The Prime Minister, however, had little to offer. He made it plain that much spadework would have to be done before any large-scale enterprise could be undertaken. The Government, he said, recognized the importance and seriousness of the question, and would assist migration to the Dominions in every way possible. It was essential, however, that any such scheme must have the full co-operation of the various Dominion Governments, and this co-operation for the time being was not available.

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, the then Dominion Secretary, had expressed

District Meeting at Nanaimo Asks for Full Investigation

A district meeting of Farmers' Institutes, held in Nanaimo on Monday, went on record as approving a thorough investigation into the alleged combine in fruit marketing.

Proof of how widespread the interest is in this combine charge was forthcoming at the convention on Vancouver Island when the delegates expressed their disapproval of any mere "preliminary investigation," and asked that the probe be a thorough one.

Absence of the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, minister of agriculture, from their Farmers' Institute sessions, was a regrettable matter, the convention stated in a resolution. But at the same time the minister's presence in the Okanagan at the time of the start of the preliminary investigation was commented upon favorably. The following resolution was passed and conveyed by wire to Dr. MacDonald in Vernon:

"That while regretting his absence we heartily commend the action of Hon. K. C. MacDonald in being present in Okanagan Valley when marketing of B.C. products is under investigation and that the following resolution be sent him by telegraph."

"Whereas this institute unanimously endorses the demand for full investigation by federal government under combines investigation act therefore be it resolved that minister of agriculture be asked to demand that investigation be thorough and not just a preliminary investigation."

LINK WITH EARLY DAYS IS SEVERED

When Walter Boyd, who has been in passenger service between Revelstoke and Kamloops for a number of years, stepped down from the cab of his 2700 class engine to commence his superannuation, a link with the early days of the Canadian Pacific Railway was severed. Mr. Boyd's father, the late John Boyd, pioneer resident of Revelstoke, was the engineer on the "Countess of Dufferin" when that locomotive pulled the first passenger train into Winnipeg in 1882.

To Accompany Royalty

The Earl of Clarendon will be a member of the royal retinue when King George and Queen Elizabeth visit Canada next June. As Lord Chamberlain, the earl will stage an evening court at Government House in Ottawa. It is expected that more than 1,000 persons will be presented to their majesties.

The same thought a few months earlier at the conclusion of the Imperial Conference, when he stated in the House of Commons that the discussions which took place at the Conference gave no indication that any of the Dominion Governments at that time felt able to join the United Kingdom Government in schemes of assisted migration.

The Ministers' statements came as a setback to the delegates, but they persisted in their efforts, and in July of this year a further Conference was held at the Empire Exhibition in Glasgow. The meeting was again well attended and a keen discussion took place among members representing the Dominions and various influential bodies in Great Britain. The two resolutions of the Guildhall Conference were reaffirmed and a third was added setting up an Empire Development Council "having for its object the co-ordination of public opinion and effort in the United Kingdom, the Dominions, and the Crown Colonies on the imperative need for Empire development."

The new Council will be set up in the autumn, and already plans are being considered for a vigorous campaign. The task before the Council will be arduous. At home the long pause in emigration has dulled men's minds to the habit of overseas settlement; the unique advantages of the social services make the keenest spirits hesitate before transferring to another country where few of these benefits exist; and in any case families are less ready than before to face the hardships and hazards of unfamiliar country.

In the Dominions, excepting South Africa, unemployment is still serious, and governments are unwilling to encourage new entrants so long as their present citizens remain idle; they assert, too, that without an enlarged and guaranteed market in England (which at present seems impossible) there is no place for a greater population.

To overcome these objections will not be easy, for they go to the root of

Emily Edstrom Becomes Bride of Wilfred Tucker at Seventh Day Adventist Church

The Seventh Day Adventist church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday, October 16th, when Miss Emily Edstrom, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edstrom, of Vernon, became the bride of Wilfred Tucker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker, of Benvoulin. Rev. Wilson of Port Haney travelling here to officiate. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk tulle and lace with white embroidered veil and coronet wreath of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Miss Alyce Weiland was bridesmaid and chose rose pink tulle for her gown with a pink bouquet. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Edney Tucker. The two tiny flower girls, who looked very sweet in pink and white were the Misses Marilyn Ritchey and Shirley Miller. About one hundred guests attended the reception held at the home of the bride's parents and the dining-room

Accepting an invitation issued by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the King and Queen will visit Canada early next summer, it was announced in a brief statement issued from Balmoral Castle, Scotland. Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are not expected to accompany their parents, who will spend three weeks in the Dominion.

2 SCHOOLBOY TRAFFIC

The three senior high captains, while Jack Morrison, Bruce Fraser and Ernest Gordon are the junior high patrol captains. The junior high patrol runs from Harvey to Rowell Avenue on Richter street.

Each lad is equipped with a white Sam Brown belt and handles a paddle painted yellow with large black letters S T O P painted on. When the pupils are gathered on the sidewalk and the traffic has eased down, the paddle signals traffic to stop and the pupils are allowed to cross the street. Any infractions by pupils are to be reported by the patrol members, while motorists who evade traffic regulations will be reported by the captains to the teacher in charge of the patrol. The equipment, Sam Brown belts and paddles, were donated by the Junior board of trade, while a large number of persons and firms have contributed towards the inauguration of the patrol. The Empress theatre has donated free tickets to the patrol members.

Members of Patrols

Members of the patrols are as follows: Senior high—Patrol A, E. Ryan, captain, R. Pearcey, Jack Perry, Len Wade, Bob Hume; Patrol B, George Patterson, captain, C. Atkinson, G. Roxby, Milton Bailey, Murray Brown; Patrol C, Floyd Caza, captain, Rex Marshall, Arthur Hughes-Games, Bert Hume, A. Pollard.

Junior high—Patrol A, Jack Morrison, captain, Colin Brown, Rex Guidi, Jack Conway, Murdo Macdonald; Patrol B, Bruce Fraser, captain, Jack Noel, John de Montreuil, Buster Ellis, Motay Kayama; Patrol C, Ernest Gordon, captain, James Black, Jack Noonan, John Barrat, Phil Weddell.

Unfortunately, Floyd Caza could not be present for the official opening of the patrol system on Monday, and his place was temporarily taken by Guy Roxby.

Following opening remarks by school board Chairman Dave Chapman, who spoke of the fine co-operation of the police, city and junior board in making this patrol possible, Constable Ira Secord gave the pupils a thorough grounding in traffic protection and what the police expected of them.

The students are expected to walk on the sidewalks at all times, he stated, whether it be in front of the school property and in the school zones or on Bernard Avenue. The roads are for motor and bicycle traffic, he pointed out, and the schoolboy traffic patrol system means to educate the youth of today to know and obey traffic rules.

Bicycles, he continued, are to be ridden as close to the right hand curb as possible. No more than two bicycles can be ridden abreast and bicycles are expected to obey stop sign regulations as well as motor traffic. Constable Secord warned the youngsters that if the regulations are not obeyed bicycles will be confiscated for a week or a month.

Corp. B. W. Smith, in charge of the highway patrol operations for this division of provincial police, adopted the topic of "Safety on the Highways," and pointed to many interesting angles for his listeners to observe. He stressed an important slogan for the children to always bear in mind: "I am careful because it is smart to be safe."

Mayor O. L. Jones then spoke shortly on the history attached to the Sam Brown belt and presented the six captains with their equipment. The happy couple, who were the recipients of many lovely and useful presents, will reside in the East Kelowna district.

A. W. GRAY GIVES INTERPRETATION OF SALES ACT

Says Single Grower Must Pay Cost of Auditor if He Demands Statement from Shipper

There have been many opinions expressed by various individuals concerning the sales on consignment act, under which four Okanagan growers are demanding statements from their shippers dating back, in some cases, three years. One of the main sticklers was who is to pay for the auditor who will check the shippers' books for the growers.

First of all, it was stated the shipper had to pay for the auditor. Then, it was agreed that the shipper paid for the auditor, but the payment was charged against the growers' pool. If a grower asked a shipper to provide an audited statement for the deal of three years ago, it would be quite conceivable that none of the shippers' growers in 1935 are with him today, and the shipper would have a merry job of endeavoring to collect auditor's fees from that particular pool of growers.

However, A. W. Gray, a member of the standard contract committee who initiated an enquiry into the workings of the sales on consignment act, has found a still different answer. If all the growers in a particular pool demand an audited statement of the shippers' transactions, then the shipper pays the auditor and charges the payment against the whole pool.

But if one grower asks for an audited statement, then the charge must be born by the grower in question. Mr. Gray determines after consultation with a solicitor. There is no actual clause which determines this surmise, but that is the most logical which can be drawn from the act, Mr. Gray states. Mr. Gray has made a study of the sales on consignment act and intends to prepare an address which will enumerate the highlights of the various clauses in the act and present it to the growers this winter in a more intelligent form for the layman to grasp.

Mr. Gray also states that since his committee began to voice a few opinions concerning shippers' failure to live up to the sales on consignment act, he has discovered a number of cases in which the grower has threatened to make application under the act to have a statement and the shipper has quelled any further investigation by settling with the grower for a couple of cents per box over his crop.

HUNTERS FINED IN VERNON COURT

Kelowna Man Among Those who Violated Hunting Regulations

Aftermath of the pheasant season opening occurred in Vernon police court during the week end, when several hunters were charged with various violations of the Game Act.

Five men, T. E. deWolf, S. J. Stocks, R. L. Morrow and L. Boulbee, all of Vancouver and F. G. deWolf, of Vernon, pleaded guilty to shooting five cock pheasants each on the opening afternoon, and were fined $10 and $17.50 costs apiece.

Shooting after 4 o'clock in the afternoon cost E. G. Harvey of Kelowna and Walter K. Sproule, of Vancouver, $11.75 each for fines and costs. W. G. Dodds, of Armstrong, appeared in Armstrong police court, and was fined $10 for carrying loaded firearms in an automobile.

5 ONE-DESK DEAL

ers were demoralizing efforts at stable marketing. Now the complaints have stopped.

Mr. Haskins agrees that, prior to the setting up of the single agency plan, the deal was very critical. "I have never seen it more ragged," he stated on Wednesday. "And it was very evident that something radical would have to be done."

He admits that the period, of one week of operating under the single agency plan, gives insufficient time to make a statement on results of the experience.

"There's hardly time yet," he said, "to get any data to substantiate our claim that the single agency idea is a good one. One week's operations are inconclusive. But I repeat that the plan can't do anything but straighten out our difficulties."

Meanwhile the Board realizes that everything must be done to surmount the many difficulties at present confronting the valley's fruit trade. And there is gratification that such evidence as is now at hand, regarding the operation of the scheme in its first week, is promising. The many complaints from the prairies seem to be coming to an end.

In its campaign to get the fruit moving, the Board is at once getting down to the problem of advertising and conferences to that effect are already being held.

Exerting as much pressure as possible on certain prairie areas is an objective being studied. There is a greater crop on the prairies and a general upswing in business, it is true, but the fact remains that buying is tardy. Relief has been cut off in areas where once there was considerable purchasing. A farmer who reaps a big crop necessarily stands much expense, too, and he is paying off his debts with the money he earns where once he bought apples with his relief money.

CITRUS TARIFF RUMOR PERTURBS VALLEY GROWERS

Duty May Come Off Citrus Fruits in December, Report States

A rather disquieting rumor has penetrated fruit circles this week. The tariff usually goes off the citrus fruits from the United States at the turn of the year. There is a large crop of oranges, etc., threatening the Canadian markets this season and when January 1, 1935, comes around, it will not mean an altogether happy date for the Okanagan apple grower. However, there has also come the rumor that the tariff may actually be lifted in December this year. As yet there is no definite information on the matter, but it is something that very definitely adds to the marketing worries.

Adding to optimism on the other side of the picture, is the fact that apple prices in the state of Washington are definitely better. Shippers have stated that this may mean a chance at certain export markets, for certain grades and varieties, which has hitherto been denied the Okanagan. The rise in Washington prices was particularly emphasized by Mr. Has-

Pheasants Have Now Sought
Cover—Col. Moodie Gives the Presbytery Report

Judging from the deluge of shots around Glenmore on the stroke of twelve on Saturday noon, it would almost seem as though the hunters had already taken aim and were ready to fire when the clock struck. Pheasants are no longer walking and feeding leisurely out in the open, but, instead, if one is seen at all, it is running for cover and safety.

Col. W. H. Moodie of East Kelowna gave a very interesting talk at the church service on Sunday morning. He spoke on the work of the annual meeting of the Presbytery, which he attended at Revelstoke last week. Rev. W. R. Ashford of Summerland will speak at the service next Sunday, on the work of Marine Mission, while Rev. A. C. Pound will take the service at Summerland.

Miss Barbara Moubay was taken suddenly ill last Friday morning and rushed to the hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, the same day. She is at present getting along nicely.

Mrs. James Clark, now of Winfield but formerly of Glenmore, is a patient in the Kelowna hospital. She is progressing favorably.

Mr. James Loudoun of Victoria is a guest at the home of his cousin Mr. A. H. Loudoun, having arrived on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Woodward motored down from Kamloops on Friday last, and were guests at the home of their cousins Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Wilson until Monday, when they returned home.

WESTBANK

Mrs. S. K. MacKay received word on Saturday that her father Mr. Jones had passed away at his home at Kenyon, Manitoba.

Mrs. L. D. Hitchenner is mourning the loss of her father Mr. Atkins, who passed away at Vancouver last Wednesday.

Mrs. C. J. Tolhurst returned on Saturday from a month's visit to the coast.

Mrs. M. A. Hewlett and her daughter Miss Grace Hewlett left last week for a visit to the States and Vancouver.

Mr. Adrian Reese who has been seriously ill in Kelowna hospital, is making good progress towards recovery.

Mrs. T. Wells arrived by car from Nelson to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parker.

Rev. Humphrey Pearson held the Harvest Thanksgiving service in St. George's Church on Sunday evening, there was a large congregation every seat being filled. The church was beautifully decorated by Mesdames Washington Brown, Hoskins and Drought.

CONVENTION REPORTS TO MEETING; IMPRESSED WITH QUEBEC WOMAN

Mrs. M. Kidd Interesting Speaker At Rutland Women's Institute Meeting—A. K. Loyd Heads Committee to Provide Swimming Pool for District

THE Women's Institute held its first meeting of the new season on Thursday afternoon, with an attendance of twenty-two members. The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. W. Sharpe, and in addition to routine matters, appointment of convenors of the necessary committees to look after the refreshments for the forthcoming community supper was attended to.

This meeting being the first one since summer, Mrs. M. Kidd, the delegate to the fifth Biennial convention of W.I. Women's Institutes held in Vancouver, July 6th to 8th inclusive, gave a detailed report of that gathering. Mrs. Kidd's report proved interesting and was much appreciated by the members. The Rutland delegate was particularly impressed with the personality and charm of the Quebec representative, Miss Hazel McCain, teacher of home economics at McDonald College, Quebec, and superintendent of Quebec Women's Institutes. Miss McCain brought a message from the Institutes of the eastern province, and proved a very interesting speaker. Three delegates were present from the Peace River Block. Their district were among the speakers to address the convention.

Dr. K. C. MacDonald, minister of agriculture, Dr. G. M. Weir, minister of education, Dean Clement of the U.B.C., Judge Helen McGill and Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer were among the speakers to address the convention.

Mrs. H. McGregor, of Penticton, president of the convention, reported that there were thirty Institutes in the Salmon Arm-Okanagan district, with a total membership of 727. These Institutes had between them raised the sum of $8,889.00, practically all of which had been spent in the local areas for community purposes.

Several speakers stressed the good work done in many communities in the way of bringing the many races and creeds together. In this connection it was interesting to note that on the Wednesday evening an entertainment was given, called "Canadian Mosaics", with items by a Croatian orchestra, dances by a Swedish group, a song by a Japanese tenor, with a Chinese accompanist, a recitation by a Chinese girl, a dance by a Yugoslav group, and a song by a Serbian girl.

The final event of the convention was an enjoyable banquet at the Vancouver hotel. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Kidd for her excellent report.

Mrs. A. Loosemore reported upon the outcome of a raffle held in aid of the Kelowna hospital. The prize, twelve tickets to the Empire Theatre, was won by Mrs. Andy Kitch, and the raffle netted over $18.00. The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments to the members.

Mrs. C. H. Gately, and son Lorne Gately, of Fin Flon, Manitoba, are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McLeod.

F. L. Fitzpatrick returned on Saturday from a short business trip to Edmonton, Alta.

Desire Swimming Pool
The desirability of providing swimming facilities for the young people of the district has been discussed for some time, and now the matter is being given serious consideration by a local committee, of which A. K. Loyd is acting chairman, and D. McDougall, secretary. A moving spirit in the enterprise is Capt. C. R. Bull, M.L.A., who has already made a cash contribution to the subscription list that is being opened. The committee met on Friday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McDougall, and plans were made to hold a general meeting at a later date. The proposal is to construct a concrete swimming pool near the community hall, to be supplied with water from the B.M.L.D. ditch that runs through the property. At present this property is in the hands of the Kelowna board of trade, but it is hoped to make arrangements to acquire sufficient ground for the purpose. Present at the initial committee meeting were, A. K. Loyd, D. McDougall, Capt. Bull, M.L.A., E. Mugford, Earl Hardie, A. W. Gray, Mrs. D. McDougall and Mrs. A. W. Gray. Earl Hardie and a party of six made a round trip by car on Sunday via McCulloch, Rock Creek, Osoyoos and Penticton, taking eight hours for the journey.

Construction has commenced on the addition of a chancel vestry to St. Aidans (Anglican) church, the work being undertaken by Mr. Maranda, a Kelowna contractor.

Rev. W. R. Ashford, of Summerland, will occupy the pulpit at the United church on Sunday evening next. Rev. Ashford was formerly on the coast mission boat "Sky Pilot", and will speak of his work there. Mrs. R. W. Corner of Glenmore was present at the service on Sunday last and favored with a sacred solo.

To expedite the movement of the fruit the local firm of McLean & Fitzpatrick Ltd., has been shipping some of the crop to its Oliver house to be packed, the crop in that district being light.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Mugford travelled by car to Naramata on Sunday last to visit Rev. and Mrs. A. McMillan.

"MEN AT WORK!"

The most cheerful sign on the road

"MEN AT WORK" is an encouraging, cheerful sign upon the highway.

It is the happiest sign on the business highway too.

Business enterprise, making wise use of banking service, is the mainspring of employment.

The contractor responsible for that "Men at Work" sign gets the job of building that stretch of highway by being the lowest responsible tenderer.

Not always does he have the ready money to buy all the materials, pay wages and build it out of his own resources. He goes to the bank and, having assets and a good reputation, he negotiates such advances as he may need.

He orders materials, sets men to work. As the job proceeds, engineers' certificates enable him to collect from those with whom he contracted, and the work goes on.

The highway finished, the bank is repaid. Such repayments enable the bank to supply credit to other responsible borrowers.

A manufacturer gets a large order, with an early time limit for delivery. With only a hundred men, his factory cannot turn out the articles within the time required. With more men he can do it—but he lacks sufficient cash.

Operating his factory, as a going concern, with a profitable order and having a reputation for integrity, he asks the bank to lend him what he needs to pay wages.

The bank makes him a loan. He takes on more men. They get wages. The goods are turned out, delivered and paid for. The manufacturer repays the bank with the agreed interest.

He has his profit and can spend some money developing new business to keep his men employed.

How does a bank make these advances—where does the money come from?

Banks, having branches throughout Canada, mobilize the surplus funds of millions of depositors, large and small, and, based upon them, make credit available throughout the country as may be required.

Millions of little sums represent the toil, production and lifetime savings of Canadians—your fellow-citizens.

Safeguarding these deposits is the bank's first care.

Deposits of $1,000 or less—most of them much less—are owned by 3,770,000 out of Canada's 4,084,000 savings depositors. The total of all bank savings deposits in Canada is nearly $1,584,000,000; the average savings deposit in a bank is only $387.

Wisely safeguarded by Canada's chartered banks these deposits furnish credit that keeps "men at work" when used by Canadian business and industry—producing new realizable wealth from Canada's great resources. The country and all its people benefit.

In the field of business deposits, out of an average of 660,000 "current" accounts, 596,000 amount to $1,000 or less.

Savings deposits are, primarily, the basis on which banks can make loans.

Only the confidence of the people and their willingness to leave their money on deposit, enable a bank to lend money and—at small profit-margin to itself—serve the community.

We have mentioned the contractor and the manufacturer. The same process stimulates employment throughout the whole fabric of production, industry and commerce.

Loans to agriculture and for marketing agricultural products totalled in 1937, $88,294,000—9.0 per cent. of all ordinary bank loans shown on the return to the Minister of Finance, October 31st, 1937.

Of this sum $57,490,000 went to farmers, cattlemen and fruit raisers and $30,804,000 to grain dealers, seed merchants and grain exporters.

Other bank loans went to municipalities and school districts; wholesalers, retailers, manufacturers of and dealers in lumber, pulp and other forest products; fishermen; fish packers and curers; public utilities including transportation companies; stockbrokers and bond dealers; provincial governments; mining men; churches, parishes; hospitals; and to charitable and religious institutions.

Canada's chartered banks defend and protect the safety of the funds of depositors—the millions of thrifty souls we have described, whose life-savings they entrust to their banks.

No Canadian depositor, through the world-shaking events of recent years, has had to fear for the safety of a single dollar lodged with Canada's chartered banks.

The funds of depositors are their own—not a pool from which everybody may draw at will for any and every new financial experiment.

MAKING CANADA A Better Place in Which to Live and Work

A Series of Letters from Distinguished Canadians on Vital Problems Affecting the Future Welfare of Canada

Specially Written for Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

Dear Mr. Editor:

With reference to your enquiry asking what endeavor I would recommend to the six hundred editors of rural weekly newspapers spread across Canada with their six million readers to make Canada a better place in which to live and work, I believe that a campaign to inculcate a spirit of self-reliance would be most of beneficial character.

Discovery and invention have brought about new economic conditions and even new moral concepts. More and more responsibility has been placed upon Government. In the early days of the depression many people disliked acceptance of Government relief, but relief, like vice, has come to be embraced. I well remember the time, and perhaps you do also, when people were ashamed to appeal to the Government for personal assistance. Now it is becoming a Government duty.

There is no doubt that there are certain measures of helpful individual character which can only be carried out by Government, such, for example, as Old Age Pensions. A measure of this kind should not be looked upon as a matter of charity but as a matter of benefit for the State as a whole.

On the other hand there is no doubt that many able bodied people have come to rely upon Government for subsistence as well as assistance in a great variety of ways. I believe that well directed and continuous campaign upon the subject of self reliance changes of this kind.

Wishing the weekly press every success, I beg to remain,

Very faithfully yours,

J. D. PATULLO,

Premier of British Columbia.

PAY ATTENTION TO GARDENS IN FALL FOR BEST RESULTS

Much Can Be Done in Autumn to Reduce Insect Population in Coming Year

At this season of the year when the natural beauty of the flower garden is fading, one's thought turn to next year and the formation of plans for improving both the annual and perennial border. When any improvement is under consideration, there naturally comes into mind those factors which this year, interfered with the production of perfect results and probably the first thought will include the many different insects which were often a trial and contributed towards making the garden a comparative wilderness. It should be realized that much can be done in the autumn to reduce the insect population of the following year. There are numerous ways of doing this, but perhaps the destruction of plant refuse, preferably by burning is the one most productive of results. Many of the most common insect species pass the winter underneath debris lying in the fields and gardens. The tarnished plant bug, that arch enemy of some of the most cherished flowers, is among the number. The destruction of refuse also kills those insects that pass the winter as pupae inside the stems or in cocoons attached to leaves and stalks. Insect eggs laid on different parts of the plant will also be destroyed by this very useful practice. Cutworms of many species hibernate in the egg stage, the eggs being deposited on standing grass and weeds. Pulling and burning such will be found very helpful. Spading over the ground in the autumn tends to bring to the surface many garden insects, which will be killed by the frequent temperature changes so common in autumn and spring.

Such cultivation also tends to put the land in better heart, promoting early and rapid growth of plants in the spring which, due to their increased vigor, will be less liable to attack by insect enemies. Weeds and grasses bordering the garden should be burned over where dry, as the eggs of the most destructive borers are to be found adhering to such plants. The gathering and burning of egg masses, cocoons, webs and nests on shrubs, ornamental trees or adhering to fences, garden furniture and buildings is strongly recommended. In this way the numbers of such common insects as tent caterpillars, tussock moths, cabbage worms, etc., will be very materially reduced. In the autumn, ornamental trees and shrubs, as well as fruit trees and bushes of all kinds must be carefully examined for the presence of dead twigs, branches and cut off and burned. As insects commonly hibernate within, hidden away in tunnels or cavities formed there while feeding.

Such practices, coming under the general heading of garden sanitation, will be found most beneficial not only in reducing the number of insects present but in promoting the general well being of the garden.

OKANAGAN MISSION

A general meeting of St. Andrew's Parish Guild was held at the Bellevue hotel on Thursday, when plans for various activities during the winter were discussed. It was decided that the Mission school rather than the community hall should be used for a card party arranged for local welfare, because of the former location's better heating facilities; sewing bees, however, during the winter will be held in the hall. About a dozen members attended the meeting.

Harvest Thanksgiving service will take place at St. Andrew's church next Sunday, offerings of fruit and vegetables will be sent to the Kelowna hospital after the service.

Sunday school was resumed October 9th but there were only a small attendance for the past two weeks.

The Mission school was open only three days last week between Thanksgiving Day and Friday, on which day the teachers' convention was held.

Miss Barbara Collett returned from her holiday at the coast last Thursday.

Mr. J. C. Clarence came up from Horse Creek last Saturday and is spending several days here for the pheasant shooting.

Mr. P. Murdoch recently purchased about 40 acres of lakeshore property, including the well-known Packer's beach, a favored spot for fishing off the rocks.

The shooting rights on the property of Mr. Hector Johns in the Mission have been leased to Mr. J. Hale.

Mr. T. Apsey is much improved in health since his return from Vancouver, where he underwent an operation.

1ST RUTLAND TROOP

"Do a good turn daily!"

Orders for the week ending October 22nd, 1938:

The troop will parade in the community hall on Friday at 7:45 p.m., sharp, in full uniform.

Duty Patrol: Kangaroos.

Fall Hike:

The annual fall hike will be held on Saturday and Sunday next, October 22nd and 23rd, the destination being Munson's Cabin. The start will be made from the school field at 9:30 a.m. Wear Scout hat, shirt, scarf, belt. Long pants or overalls permissible if you do not have breeches. Shorts optional. Lists will be issued at the meeting on Friday, detailing the supplies to be taken.

There was an attendance of 20 at the meeting on Friday last, which was good for the first of the season. In addition there was one new recruit in attendance. Troop Leader Maurice Soames was out to the meeting, but it is learned with regret that he expects to leave in a few weeks for New Zealand. His cheerful grin and unfailing good humor will be greatly missed by the troop.

The week of October 8th to 15th being "Fire Prevention Week," special attention was given to this in the programme. Instruction was given in how to prevent fire, and how to act after a fire is discovered, including rescuing animals from a barn, rescue of people from a burning building, and resuscitation. Each patrol was called upon to give a short demonstration of one or more of the points covered. In this the Foxes were adjudged the best.

The new patrol competition got away to a good start, with the Seals getting a slight lead. Following is the standing:

Or a combined total of $8,123,696.

Figures ordinarily make dull reading. But we ask you to consider for a moment what this Eight Million Dollars means.

It is half the annual output of our fisheries industry in B.C. It exceeds in value our annual production of copper; it is three millions more than our yield of silver. It is nearly double the value of our Okanagan apple crop.

A large share of this Eight Million Dollars goes to support the machinery of government, but more than $6,800,000, you will observe, flows into the commercial lifeblood of the province, creating employment, paying good wages, buying supplies of all kinds, providing work for railway and transport men—in fact, stimulating business everywhere and making better times.

The petroleum industry is vital—creative—in tune with the times. It must have a fair reward for its accomplishments if it is not to be hampered or restricted in its service.

Spotlight

Alderman G. A. McKay

This week, The Courier's man of the hour, one who has been in the spotlight of Kelowna's business and social life for more than thirty years is a thin, grey-haired, wiry individual who is known to all and sundry as "Alex". George Alexander McKay first joined the business life of the community in 1906 and he has been a preponderant force behind the steady, community growth for the past quarter century.

Alex is retired now and spends part of his time fishing. He has worked hard and conscientiously all his life and has well earned his days of comparative leisure. He has been a good business man, and with his partner, the late P. B. Willits, built up one of the most enterprising drug businesses in the interior of this province. He has definite views on the business aspects of life and does not hesitate to tell them.

Although born in Ontario, it was at the youthful age of 1½ years that he came west with his parents to Manitoba. He has spent only a few months in the east since that time but can tell you some amusing stories concerning the differences in business life and outlook between the east and the west.

To exemplify his ideas he tells of a trip he made east. There he found on one fine Saturday afternoon every business and professional man in a small community bowling. Alex was astounded and asked one of the most prominent men there how such business proprietors could take an afternoon off on one of the busiest days of the week. The answer was: "My store has been established for 100 years. The original capital is intact and if I make a profit at the end of the year I draw it out."

In the west, where you come from, you get $25 in the bank that there isn't a draft against you draw it out and take a trip to California or buy a car. You never know the difference between capital and profit.

To this, Alex responded that western people at least know how to live and do not wait until they have saved a bank that there isn't a draft against you draw it out and take a trip to California or buy a car. You never know the difference between capital and profit.

Despite the fact that he is a western man and has lived with western ideas for so long, Alex is considered a successful business man, having been able to retire at the age of 55. He admits many mistakes in his business life, but his Scotch father from Inverness instilled many basic ideas into him that have served him well in his varied career.

George Alexander McKay first saw the light of day at Eden Grove, Ontario, a small place which he believes to be near Guelph, although he is not quite sure. In 1882, before he was two years old, Alex was taken by his parents to southern Manitoba, where Mr. McKay Sr. was the first merchant to enter the territory. Goods for the McKay store were brought 125 miles by ox cart from Emerson and it was a long journey. Railroads were unheard of in southern Manitoba in those days.

There is nothing pretentious about Alex McKay. He admits of only a public school education with a minimum of frills. But at the early age of 16 he left home and trudged to Winnipeg, where his first job was in a customs brokerage business. In 1897 he was apprenticed as a drug clerk at the munificent salary of $4 per week. For two years he made this weekly stipend and paid out $4 in board and room. "And it was darned good board, too," he adds. His father provided him with clothes for the first two years and allowed him $1 per week, which was a lot of spending money in those days.

At the age of 21, in 1901, Mr. McKay graduated as a qualified druggist and joined J. C. Gordon, who was then the best known druggist in Western Canada. Alex McKay adds with a smile that the business was purely one of dispensing drugs at that time.

Until 1904 Alex McKay was chief dispenser for J. C. Gordon and long were the hours he worked, generally from 8 o'clock in the morning until one or one-thirty the following morning. Every fourth Sunday he was allowed off, plus two nights each week and every fourth holiday. He was required to put up 100 prescriptions per month for his salary of $60 per month, and if the business went over that amount he was paid a commission.

Comes to Kelowna.
In the spring of 1904 he suffered a nervous breakdown and was forced to take a holiday. He journeyed to El Paso, Texas, and up the west coast, landing in Kelowna in July, 1905. After a carefree summer, he went back to Winnipeg and joined the Gordon firm in the fall, but the next spring the doctor ordered him to hike out for the mountains and stay there as his health would not stand the low altitude.

So back he came to Kelowna and that year purchased Mrs. B. F. Boyce's interests in the drug business of Boyce and Willits. January 1, 1906 was the start of a partnership which was unique in western Canada annals, as it lasted until 1935, a period of thirty years. "In that time P. B. Willits and I never exchanged an angry word," declares Mr. McKay and with half a glance you can see he is rightly proud of this achievement.

It was fun managing a business in those days, in many respects. If P. B. was away from the store and an important baseball or lacrosse match was taking place, Alex would leave the store open and watch the game. When he returned, he would find dimes, nickels and quarters on the counter, left there by customers who had obtained their purchases and gone on their way, leaving the proper change behind. Such was the honesty of the pioneers of this community.

That first start by McKay & Willits was made in the building now known as the Holmwood board residence on Ellis street and remained the drug business site until 1913 when the brick block on Bernard avenue, which still houses the business of P. B. Willits & Co. Ltd., was erected.

Alex can still remember the first day's business ever done, on January 1, 1906, for it amounted to exactly $1.65. For many years he and P. B. Willits were the only attendants in the store and they took their turns washing floors, scrubbing windows and doing all the other menial jobs connected with operating a business.

Since coming to Kelowna, Mr. McKay has been active in so many various civic affairs that their number is legion. Since 1930 he has been a member of the city council and is acting mayor whenever Mayor O. L. Jones is absent. He is representative of the city council on the Kelowna Hospital Society board.

Civic Record
Mr. McKay was a member of the board of trade throughout his entire business career, and was for many years chairman of the retail merchants bureau. He is Okanagan representative on the B.C. Hospital Nurses' association, and is a member of the Health Association of Canada advisory council.

For the past few years he has been an active Rotarian in Kelowna and has attended many important conventions, including the international convention in San Francisco this year. Some years back he was a school board member, from 1917 to 1919, and at one time was lecturer to the nurses' training school at the Kelowna general hospital on materia medica.

He is a past master of St. George's Masonic lodge and is a member of the Royal Arch chapter. Ever since 1905 he has been a member of the Kelowna club and is one of the oldest members of that institution, from a standpoint of continuous membership, in Kelowna today.

Harking back for a moment to 1906, Mr. McKay will remind you that he was a member of the first survey party which ever investigated the foothills for available irrigation water supply. This party was in the mountains seven days by pack train; to conduct the first survey.

Sport Enthusiast
Mr. McKay has long been interested in sports. In his younger years football was his forte, and he still carries the marks on the calf of his leg where a big strapping Indian from Elkhill Indian school ran the spikes of his shoe. The whole back of his leg was ripped and he was laid up for four months, he reminisces. Since coming to Kelowna he has been a charter member of the Kelowna golf club and has been active in curling and bowling. He prides himself on playing a mean game of cribbage, and held the city championship for some time until the ladies took up the game and dethroned him.

Family
On June 3, 1908, Mr. McKay married Vera Holman of Winnipeg, and he has one married daughter, who resides in Winnipeg, and a son, George, at home in Kelowna. He didn't want us to mention this, but he has been a grandfather for the past eight years, and is really secretly very proud of the fact.

Scout Commissioner's Corner
I have good news for the 1st Kelowna Pack of Wolf Cubs for I have now found them a Cubmaster in the person of Mr. J. W. C. McKergow, who was a 1st Class Scout in the 1st Grande Ligne Troop of Montreal, which he left in 1931, when he came to British Columbia to live. It is very interesting to know that the Scoutmaster of this troop was, and probably still is, the Reverend Mr. Frank Stanton, who was the founder of the 1st Rutland Troop. I am sure that Scoutmaster Stanton will be very glad to know that he has produced a leader for one of the local units, and he will also be particularly glad to know that his old Troop, the 1st Rutlands, have never ceased to carry on since he left them, a good many years ago now. Scoutmaster Stanton, who was Scoutmaster of the 1st Rutland Troop, is now most sincerely wish both the 1st Rutlands and the 1st Grande Lignes many more long years of good scouting.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Affairs and events gain momentum at Kelowna high this week, as clubs and athletics begin to function. Membership is large in clubs this year, no doubt due to a well-organized system of choice.

The publications club, under direction of P. Kitley, has elected Jim Clement and Maud Crelin for the offices of president and secretary-treasurer respectively, with other officers to be elected soon. This club's function is to publish the school paper and get out the annual, as well as to look after news items in this paper. It appears the "big shots" of the pub club have something on their hands.

A correspondence club! Well, here's something that has distinct advantages of its own. Under the direction of Miss Sibley, this club is affiliated with an international correspondence club that offers members in over a hundred different countries. Membership has been given to students of junior matric in a French correspondence club, enabling these people to gain French pen-pals. No doubt these clubs will mean a few foreign stamps for our hospital box.

Under the direction of J. Logie, the photography club met on Tuesday for its organization. Announcement was made to the effect that Mr. Whitham would be giving a talk to this club on Thursday.

As this goes to press, we hear that Miss M. Cunliffe has organized a dramatic club to put on the annual school plays. You will also hear more about the current events club under the direction of Mr. Chapman, and the science club whose leader is Mr. Cameron.

Time is given to all clubs on Tuesdays each week during school hours.

We believe that Miss Gale, Mr. Logie and Mr. Cameron will be looking after all of the schools' sports activities this year.

A number of defeats have been inflicted upon the senior football team of late. Pressure on the three Kewahar-as by the plucky junior forwards resulted in near-breakdown. After all the good things we said about them, they will probably put up a good battle on behalf of their team to gain supremacy!

We would like to remind high school students of the coming inter-class track meet, in the hope that this year's meet will prove as successful as last year's.

A game perhaps not as well known as most in Kelowna is cricket. The Kelowna junior team, about half of which are high school students, gave decisive defeat to the Penticton team on October 9.

Students may have been disturbed from their sense of contentment by the thought of the coming October exams. Indeed, some of them have already appeared.

On Tuesday of last week, Constable Secord took the boys on the traffic patrol out on the street corner and explained general duties. Two of the three patrols were given more detailed information on Thursday morning. Captains of the Patrol were appointed as follows: Team A, Eugene Ryan; Team B, George Patterson; Team C, Floyd Caza. Duties of captains are to supervise the work of the team and to report on infractions of any rules.

Students are warned that patrol members are obliged to use their "paddles" to control traffic; but that, when occasion arises, they may be tempted to put them to use in a different manner, accomplishing their wishes to the discomfort of "offenders."

The patrol wish to thank the Kelowna Basketball club and the management of the Empress Theatre for their kind courtesies to them. Keep an eye on your tickets, "patrollers"—they are greatly coveted.

Certain young ladies are "swingin' it" along Richter street sidewalks, according to reports from a gentleman who was caught in the midst of one of their dizzy dances. Perhaps this is an aftermath of the school party. Well, keep up the spirit, girls, we see you are keeping in practice for the Christmas dance.

Among the junior matrics there are some who have not forgotten—shall we call it—er—horseplay. Well, some say the junior matrics are all the same! (Senior matrics please overlook.)

The teachers' convention held on Friday last in Penticton was the occasion for a holiday for high school students, but not for the teachers, eh what?

Next week, High School Highlights brings you all the news, so watch this column for "recent developments."

"R.S.M."

First rally of the season tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock and while, I understand, most of their sixers have stepped up into the troop, there are still some thirty others still on the roll, who will all turn out, I trust, for their 1st rally. Both the Kelowna packs are not going to take in more recruits than their allotted strength which must not, except under special circumstances exceed 36, and after that they will both keep waiting lists. After they have reached their total strength those in the waiting list will have to await their turns for vacancies in the packs.

It is hoped that patrol leaders from the following troops will attend the forthcoming conference at Salmon Arm on Saturday and Sunday, November 12 and 13—1st, 2nd and 3rd Kamloops, 1st Salmon Arm, 1st and 2nd Revelstoke, 1st and 2nd Vernon, 1st Rutland, 1st Kelowna, 1st East Kelowna, 1st Summerland, 1st Penticton, 1st Oliver and 1st Osoyoos.

In a report by Ed Neff, carnival committee chairman, it was revealed that the annual Elks carnival, held at the Scout hall for three days recently, realized a net profit of about $300. Out of the $1,000 expenses, less than $200 had been spent out of the city for merchandise, Mr. Neff reported.

TWENTY-FIFTH WEDDING DATE IS CELEBRATED

Friends Gather at Royal Anne to Offer Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Galbraith

Mr. and Mrs. J. Galbraith celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last Thursday evening at the Royal Anne hotel at a dinner party and bridge when a number of their friends gathered to offer congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith were married by Rev. Alec Dunn twenty-five years ago, on October 13th, 1913, at the First United Church in Kelowna and have lived here since that time.

The dinner table, strewn with flower petals, was centred with a miniature bride and groom banked by bronze-colored chrysanthemums, while at one end was the tiered wedding cake and at the other a lovely silver bowl containing twenty-five talisman roses, the gift of Miss Ella Nairn, Mrs. Galbraith's sister. Favors at each place consisted of silver thimbles for the ladies and silver flower holders for the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith were presented with a solid silver teapot from their assembled friends and a bouquet of twenty-five carnations.

Coffee was served in the rotunda after dinner and the remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge. Mrs. Howard Ryan won the ladies' prize while Mr. D. K. Gordon was winner of the men's prize.

The guests included Mayor and Mrs. O. L. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. D. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. R. Whillies, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Dore, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casorso, Mrs. Rattenbury, Miss Mary Rattenbury, Miss Ella Nairn, Mr. Roy Haug, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ryan and Master Alistair Galbraith.

Prior to the dinner a cocktail party was held in the rotunda of the hotel.

Right Bag Adds to Appearance of Costume

Smart New Handbags

A bag can make or mar a costume, as many of us have discovered here. Here are three of the newest bags sketched in Paris. The first is a dressy bag of black suede. The ribbon of black satin that is tied around it forms the handles—one front and back through which the arm is slipped. Narrow black satin piping adds an ornamental touch. Next is an under-arm bag of black antelope with double ruffles of the antelope. The ball which pulls the zipper on top is of tortoise shell. The third bag is young and amusing. It is of black suede with a tubular gold handle.

CANADIAN DISHES WILL FEATURE COOKING SCHOOL

Popular Winnipeg Woman to Kelowna Young Women's Club Conduct Cooking School Here

"Made-in-Canada dishes" will be the theme of all Cooking School sessions to be conducted by Mrs. Madeline Day at the "Parade of the Foods," which opens at the Empress Theatre, Kelowna, Thursday, November 3rd, at 1.45 p.m., and Friday, November 4th, at 1.45 p.m.

Mrs. Day has just brought to a successful conclusion a three-day "Canadian Cookery School" in Vancouver, where the Orpheum Theatre was packed to capacity at each session with women, eager to learn new ways to brighten up the winter menu and make housekeeping easier. A graduate in domestic science and household economics of the University of Chicago and Ward Belmont in Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Day has been conducting "Cooking Schools that are different" in Canada since 1931, making her headquarters in Vancouver for the past four years.

Many Canadian Recipes In paying tribute to the housewives throughout the Dominion, Mrs. Day stated: "I have received hundreds of their choicest recipes from Western Canadian women. Recipes which have been changed a little, perhaps, to adapt them to the needs of the average family. But they are Canadian recipes for Canadian families, and as such I am offering them with assurance that they'll be successful. Each and every one has been tested over and over again—and all have been selected to meet the needs of women running their homes on the average moderate budget."

Among the many interesting and instructive features of "The Parade of the Foods" will be the presenting of numerous, generous Food Hampers, all the dishes prepared by Mrs. Day right on the stage, and several valuable gifts.

"PINKY" RAYMER RETURNS FROM VERNON HOSPITAL

E. R. "Pinky" Raymer, who met with an unfortunate accident at Vernon six weeks ago, when a freight car ran over his foot and crushed it so severely the member had to be amputated, has returned to Kelowna greatly recovered in health. He is able to meet his old friends and although he has to walk on crutches at present, he intends to have an artificial foot fitted soon.

If the elbows are solidly planted on the table, a quarter of a watermelon can be a balanced meal.

PLAN FOR FALL SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Kelowna Young Women's club held its regular supper meeting on Wednesday, October 12, at the Royal Anne hotel.

The tables were decorated with a lovely arrangement of autumn fruits and flowers. Miss Audrey MacLeod led the community singing with Mrs. Kay McKergow at the piano.

The club plans to sponsor a show at the Empress theatre on Wednesday, November 2, to raise money for the annual children's Christmas party. An excellent show has been chosen. Miss Josephine McLachlan was appointed to take over the duties of sheriff for this year. Plans for a dinner were left over until after Christmas when more time will allow for the proper planning of such an affair.

Miss Josephine McLachlan told of her recent trip to Cuba this summer in a most interesting manner and was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present.

THE COMMON COLD

If the sum total of suffering, inconvenience, ache and uneasiness, loss from common colds be obtained, it would at once elevate these infections from the trivial into the rank of the serious diseases. The autumn is the time for colds though they may occur at any time of the year. Many of us have from one to three colds a year. One attack produces little immunity.

Of What Does a Cold Consist?

It is a group of acute infections of the mucous (lining) membranes of the throat and nose, often extending into the windpipe and larger bronchi. The sinuses, that is the hollow spaces adjacent to the nose, are frequently involved. The infection may be confined to the nose when it is called rhinitis; it may affect the throat as in tonsillitis, or as a pharyngitis; the larynx as a laryngitis and the bronchial tubes as a bronchitis.

Colds and Draughts

The popular idea that a cold is due to a draught is scarcely correct. Exposure to draughts, sudden changes of temperature and chilling of the body are predisposing causes of colds, but no cold can originate without the specific micro-organism or bug which is the essential cause.

The Cause

Some say that a common cold is due to a virus, that is a germ so small that it cannot be seen under the microscope. Many different germs seem to be associated with colds. Perhaps the cause is a combination of viruses and germs. Common colds may not be a single disease but rather a group of infections which vary in severity and catchability.

Colds are caught from other persons having colds just as diphtheria is contracted from diphtheria patients. Arctic explorers, exposed to all the conditions popularly supposed to produce colds, do not suffer from these ailments until they return to civilization and become infected by contact with their fellows.

Prevention and Cure

The two really important matters about colds are first, their prevention and second their cure. Prevention may be summed up in the avoidance of those having an infection, especially in street cars, offices and other poorly ventilated places. Colds, like other diseases conveyed in the secretions from nose and mouth are often transferred by direct and indirect contact through kissing, the common drinking cup, the roller towel, pipes, toys, pencils, fingers, food and other objects contaminated with the fresh secretions which carry the disease. Vitiating air, draughts, dust, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to cold and wet, overwork, loss of sleep and improper food all have some effect in causing colds. It must be admitted on the other hand that the most vigorous will contract colds if they receive the infection, while some persons are so immune that they appear to resist attacks of colds year after year.

Persons with colds should at once go to bed and stay there as long as there is any rise of temperature. Methods of cure had best be left to the doctor. Some persons pin their faith to a hot bath and a drink of whiskey. Others use vaccines. There is one vaccine, which, taken by mouth in doses of ten drops once a week, is said to prevent the onset of a cold and taken daily in the course of a cold seems to break it up.

SPREAD GOSPEL OF DEMOCRACY
TEACHERS ARE URGED AT THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION IN PENTICTON

Speakers at Big Conference of Valley Teachers Stress Need for Which British and Kindred Nations Have Stood for Centuries—Vernon Woman Teacher Named President

ADDRESSING 276 teachers registered at the Okanagan convention, held in Penticton on Friday and Saturday, with a Thursday evening public gathering, practically all speakers urged the solutions to spread the gospel of democracy, and thus to protect the ideals for which the British and kindred nations have stood for many centuries. The need for this was shown by sundry references to the break-down of democracy in some of the old-world lands, and the insidious campaigns being waged to further such break-downs.

Inspiration Provided

Inspiration and encouragement was given to the teachers at the general gatherings, with specialized instruction and newer developments in education in each of the several departments, given at the smaller departmental conferences. At these there were quite a number of experts, including some of the leading educationalists of the province.

For the duration of the convention, all school classes in the Okanagan Valley were eliminated, permitting all teachers in the entire district to attend. Teachers from as far east as Trail, north to Kamloops and west to the Princeton district and south to the boundary were present at the sessions.

For the first time in the nineteen years of the federation's history in this district, a woman has been named as president. In the election held on Friday afternoon, Miss Hilda L. Cryderman of the Vernon high school staff was named as head for the forthcoming year. The other officers will be named at the first directors' meeting, to be held in November. It is anticipated that F. T. Marriage of Kelowna, secretary treasurer for the past seven years, will be re-elected to that post.

Split Into Groups

Commencing with the opening session on Friday morning, the convention divided into groups representing the various departments, new features in each of these being introduced by the speakers. The latter included A. R. Lord and T. R. Hall of the provincial normal school; Dr. D. Buchanan of U.B.C.; Miss M. Agnew of Vancouver, organizer of the school art clubs there, and several others.

Included in the resolutions passed at the business sessions, was one in which the teachers instructed delegates to the Easter convention not to support affiliation of the B.C. teachers federation with the trades and labor congress of Canada. Reason given for this action is stated to be that the teachers do not desire to be associated with the struggle now in progress in the U.S. between the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O., both of which have organizations associated with the Canadian congress.

Another resolution called for the enlarging of the scope of the present system of medical inspection in the schools, while a third instructed the executive of the Valley body to investigate the organization and personnel of the Canadian Youth Congress, before delegates are sent to the Youth Congress gatherings. Improvement of text books and courses, and also reduction in number and price of such books was mooted in another resolution passed at the gathering. Effort will be made, it was agreed at the business sessions to establish unification of equipment for all visual education work, in order that there may be uniformity of film sizes throughout the district.

American Educationalist

At the banquet held on Friday evening, there were 130 teachers and others in attendance. In addition to the customary toasts, there were some short addresses of special brilliance.

This was particularly true of the brief, but pithy address given at the banquet by Wellington Pegg, regional school principal and superintendent of education for the city of Wenatchee, Wash. Speaking as one of the visitors, Mr. Pegg gave a stirring appeal concerning the needs of the future in education.

He said that he had been informed King George VI of England was to visit Canada, and indicated that he would like to see the monarch visit the U.S. "If he does come, we'll do our share in entertaining him, and the British Sovereign will find a reception never equalled in the history of the modern world."

Turning to his main topic, the speaker said there were three things he wished to bring to the attention of the gathering. First of these was that the world is bigger, and yet at the same time is smaller. It is bigger because exploration has expanded its boundaries, but by that very fact, because they are practically no new territories to be opened up, the world is smaller. The speaker then applied this to the world of thought, saying that investigations and learning have expanded, but that wisdom has diminished.

The world needs neighborliness, and teachers should develop the foundation for this, by teaching tolerance and good will, the speaker said. As the second point, he said the world is richer, and yet poorer. The problems of production have been solved, but the problems of distribution remain. "The need is for an attitude of the cool spirit of science so that the economic and social problems of the world of today can be intelligently handled," Mr. Pegg said.

The world has become smarter, but more doubting, he said, citing the trend of his principles. With all its learning it is baffled with what to do with it. The learning needs to be integrated by philosophy or religion, in order to provide some central theme, some vital principle around which the

J. McLean gave the toast to the B.C. teachers federation, responded to by J. Burnett, official of the organization.

Toast to the ladies was given by R. Lynch, and responded to by Miss Cryderman, announcement being made at this juncture of her election to the post of president of the Valley league. Included in the guests who addressed the gathering were Inspector Matheson of Kelowna; Miss M. Agnew of Vancouver; G. R. Rogers of London, England, who spoke of the League of the Empire and the interchange of teachers; and J. Gilmour of South Africa who brought roars of mirth with his amusing stories of the colored schools in the far-off British colony.

Provincial Police have stated that the custom of some motorists of parking their cars in the middle of Bernard avenue between the light standards is contrary to the city by-laws and must be discontinued immediately. Cars can only be parked in the designated lanes at the curb and if the motorists still insist in parking in the centre of the street prosecutions will follow. This practice is followed mostly in front of the post office where traffic is congested at noon time.
